REDS OK BIG 4 TALK

Bulganin Accepts Swiss Proposal

. . . Action Follows White House Rejection

LONDON (INS) — Russian Premier Nikolai Bulganin Sunday accepted a Swiss bid for another "summit" conference of the Big Four powers, plus India.

Moscow Radio quoted Bulganin's reply to Swiss President Markus Feldmann as saying:

"The Soviet government, convinced of the necessity to solve all controversial questions by peaceful means and of the advantages to the cause of peace inherent in direct talks between heads of state of different powers, favors the proposal of Switzerland . . ."

Bulganin's acceptance came a day after President Eisenhower declined the Swiss invitation for top-level discussions on the Middle East crisis until after the United Nations stabilizes the area.

The White House declined any comment Sunday on Bulganin's action on grounds that Mr. Eisenhower's comment of Saturday took care of the U.S. viewpoint.

Britain and France have not yet replied to the invitation, although Prime Minister Sir Anthony Eden said in a speech Friday night he would be willing to go "anywhere" at any time in the cause of peace.

Willing

India's Prime Minister Jawaharlal Nehru has expressed his willingness to attend a summit conference. Nehru was invited by Feldmann as a representative of the countries participating in the Bandung conferences.

In declining the Swiss bid, the White House said that discussions were in progress that might eventually lead to talks among the leaders of the U.S., Britain and France on the Suez and Arab-Israeli problems.

Red China 'Mobilizing' Egypt Aid

TOKYO (Monday) —(INS)— Communist China announced that "volunteers," doctors, technicians and transportation workers would be "mobilized" to aid Egypt.

A Japanese language broadcast by Peiping radio said a Chinese people's Egyptian aid committee had met and decided to aid Egypt with "true activity."

The broadcast did not specify the kind of "volunteers" to be mobilized under the direction of the committee, but said goods also will be sent to Egypt.

Previously, Red Chinese Premier Chou En-lai had said his nation's 600-million people were ready to offer "a helping hand to the Egyptians."

'Heroic'

Chou referred to Egyptian battling against invading forces as a "heroic war of resistance at the Suez Canal."

Chou also said that his people "offer the same helping hand to all countries and people, in Asia, Africa, and throughout the whole world, who are valiantly fighting against colonialism."

He also referred to Formosa in his address, declaring.

"This part of China's territory is still suffering from American aggression."

Chou called upon all "patriots" to bring about the "peaceful liberation' of Formosa.

But colder air is on the way, according to the Weather Bureau, which forecasts cooler temperatures in the east and central parts of the state Monday. The west is to be warmer Monday night.

Highs Monday are to range from 50 in the northwest to 60 in the southeast.

Dry weather prevailed across the nation Sunday. No precipitation is expected in the state for the next few days.

Mideast Cease-Fire Marred By Shooting

. . . Suez Truce Force Ready

By EDDY GILMORE

LONDON (AP)—Shooting marred the cease-fire along the Suez Canal Sunday. The commander of United Nations Middle East police troops said the force is ready to fly to Egypt as soon as President Nasser gives permission. Only provisional approval has been expressed thus far, with details to be worked out.

A dispatch from Port Said reported British-French forces restively suffered three hours of fire from the Egyptian lines Sunday then blasted back with an hour-long barrage which restored quiet. No casualties were reported from the British-French side.

Maj. Gen. E. L. M. Burns of Canada, commander of the U. N. police force, said his soldiers would remain at staging camps near Naples, Italy, until Nasser gives them the green light. Asked at a news conference in Tel Aviv if there had been any snags in the negotiations with Nasser, Gen Burns replied:

"I do not believe anything—any snags—that cannot be cleared up."

Cairo radio said talks between Egypt and the U. N. over the "composition, duties and posts" of the international police force are still going on.

Criss-Cross

Soldiers from the 17 nations who are going to keep peace in the Middle East in the name of the U. N. began criss-crossing the world on their way to join the advance group of Norwegians and Danes in the Mediterranean base.

In the vast wastes of the Sinai Peninsula, Israeli troops raced against the clock to clear out captured Egyptian equipment—much of it identified as Russian and Czechoslovakian. They want to get the booty back behind the Israeli frontier before taking out their soldiers to make way for U. N. forces.

In London, an official British source said the Soviet Union had poured 420 million dollars worth of arms into Egypt before hostilities began last month. The report said Russia had supplied 1,000 technicians, 50 bombers, at least 100 fighters, 300 tanks, 2 destroyers, 4 minesweepers, at least 1 submarine and rocket launchers.

Premier David Ben-Gurion of Israel said Thursday he would take his troops out of the Sinai—but Meir Argov, chairman of Israel's parliamentary Security and Foreign Affairs Committee, said the captured Gaza Strip would remain part of Israel.

President Nasser maintains the strip is Egyptian—and bickering over Gaza at this stage in the cease-fire could lead to more serious complications. Egypt has occupied the strip since 1948.

British-French headquarters on Cyprus said in a communique Sunday that uncleared obstructions have cut the berthing capacity at Port Said Harbor by two-thirds but that the port is operating adequately. It did not mention work being done to clear ships sunk in the canal and now blocking navigation.

Soviet Volunteers Ask Egypt Action

MOSCOW (AP) — Soviet volunteers continued to pour into the Egyptian Embassy Sunday even though the United Nations is ready to move its police units into Egypt for patrol duty.

While these Russians applied—in person and by letter—to join Egyptian forces in a "battle of independence," Western students of Soviet affairs believed there was a possibility the Kremlin's main attention might be shifting from Egypt to other Arab nations.

A spokesman at the Egyptian Embassy was asked whether any of the volunteers have actually left for Egypt.

"I can't say," he replied.

They could leave the country only with the Soviet government's authority.

The Soviet press made much of the departure of a group of Russian pilots to help man the Suez Canal after President Nasser nationalized that waterway July 26. Then there were two or three days of silence—followed by a Cairo announcement that the Russian pilots were already in the canal zone.

Would Accept Help

WASHINGTON (AP) — An Arab spokesman said that Egypt would accept the help of Soviet and Chinese "volunteers" in the present crisis under certain conditions.

Dr. Fayez Sayegh, official spokesman for the Arab League in America, made the statement during an interview on ABC-TV's "College Press Conference."

He did not say under what conditions Egypt would permit entry of Communist troops into her territory, but said that if Israel, Britain and France do not withdraw troops from Egypt they "will have to bear the consequences."

Hungary Fights On

Cardinal Mindszenty Asks West Action

VIENNA (AP)—Hungarian Nationalists tightened their belts and fought on Sunday with both arms and passive resistance against a fate which Josef Cardinal Mindszenty expects to be "greater oppression if the United Nations does not save us."

A procession of western newsmen caught in Budapest by the surprise Soviet attack a week ago finally made their way out to neutral Austria with fresh details of the onslaught and the slow silencing of the guns of the freedom fighters.

They crossed in dreary weather and a biting wind.

From Budapest came word that Janos Kadar, the puppet premier installed with the backing of Russian guns, had met with his deposed predecessor, Imre Nagy, in a desperate attempt to gain popular support.

Nothing is known of the talks except that they began, but Kadar implied in a radio speech that Nagy was unwilling to co-operate.

Somber View

Nagy had built up a broadly based government of all Hungary's traditional parties when the Russians unseated him.

Cardinal Mindszenty's somber veiw of the situation was expressed to western newsmen a week ago in an interview that reached Vienna only Sunday.

"Far quicker and more effective steps are needed," said the Roman Catholic primate — freed from a guarded castle just 12 days ago and now a refugee in the U. S. legation.

"A man who is drowning needs no messages.

"What we need is that the secretary general of the United Nations comes to Budapest today and not tomorrow. There has been much too much voting and oratory. What we need is action now."

A Soviet army estimated at 200,000 men holds all the rebellious nation in its iron grip.

'Must Remain'

And the Moscow radio told the Hungarian people in a broadcast Sunday night the Russian-commanded, eight nation Warsaw Alliance, under which Soviet troops are based in Hungary, "must remain in force as long as the North Atlantic Treaty Alliance (NATO) is in force."

Hammarskjold's cable to Moscow requested the Soviet government to support his "demand" to the puppet regime in Hungary for allowing the observers to enter the country.

He added that he felt "entitled to count on the assistance" of Russia in aiding the observers when they arrived in Hungary. Hammarskjold prodded the Soviet government for quick action on his

"I am convinced that the government of the U.S.S.R. is aware of the sense of urgency with which the general assembly envisages this problem."

'Shortly'

The U. N. chief sharply warned the Hungarian puppet government of Janos Kadar he would call for further assembly action unless it replied to his cables "shortly."

Hungarian Deputy Foreign Minister Istvan Sebes, in a curt reply, said his government was "weighing" the contents of the Hammarskjold cable.

Hammarskjold in an aide-memoir to Hungarian Deputy Foreign Minister Istvan Sebes said that it was with "disappointment" that he had not received any reply to his request regarding the seating of U. N. observers to Hungary, "although the situation is one of the greatest urgency."

'Without Delay'

He added:

"I must, therefore, reiterate my request and ask the government to send me a reply without further delay."

Hammarskjold warned that if the Hungarian government continued to ignore his notes he would then request the general assembly for further action on the Hungarian situation.

Hammarskjold sent a letter to the Hungarian government calling for information at "the earliest possible date" on the need for medical supplies, foodstuffs and clothes resulting from the Russian bloodbath.

Hammarskjold also requested the Hungarian government to send information on the best means of providing the aid.

Mideast Cease-Fire Marred By Shooting

. . . Suez Truce Force Ready

By EDDY GILMORE

LONDON (AP)—Shooting marred the cease-fire along the Suez Canal Sunday. The commander of United Nations Middle East police troops said the force is ready to fly to Egypt as soon as President Nasser gives permission. Only provisional approval has been expressed thus far, with details to be worked out.

A dispatch from Port Said reported British-French forces restively suffered three hours of fire from the Egyptian lines Sunday then blasted back with an hour-long barrage which restored quiet. No casualties were reported from the British-French side.

Maj. Gen. E. L. M. Burns of Canada, commander of the U. N. police force, said his soldiers would remain at staging camps near Naples, Italy, until Nasser gives them the green light. Asked at a news conference in Tel Aviv if there had been any snags in the negotiations with Nasser, Gen. Burns replied:

"I do not believe anything—any snags—that cannot be cleared up."

Cairo radio said talks between Egypt and the U. N. over the "composition, duties and posts" of the international police force are still going on.

Criss-Cross

Soldiers from the 17 nations who are going to keep peace in the Middle East in the name of the U. N. began criss-crossing the world on their way to join the advance group of Norwegians and Danes in the Mediterranean base.

In the vast wastes of the Sinai Peninsula, Israeli troops raced against the clock to clear out captured Egyptian equipment—much of it identified as Russian and Czechoslovakian. They want to get the booty back behind the Israeli frontier before taking out their soldiers to make way for U. N. forces.

In London, an official British source said the Soviet Union had poured 420 million dollars worth of arms into Egypt before hostilities began last month. The report said Russia had supplied 1,000 technicians, 50 bombers, at least 100 fighters, 300 tanks, 2 destroyers, 4 minesweepers, at least 1 submarine and rocket launchers.

Premier David Ben-Gurion of Israel said Thursday he would take his troops out of the Sinai—but Meir Argov, chairman of Israel's parliamentary Security and Foreign Affairs Committee, said the captured Gaza Strip would remain part of Israel.

President Nasser maintains the strip is Egyptian—and bickering over Gaza at this stage in the cease-fire could lead to more serious complications. Egypt has occupied the strip since 1948.

British-French headquarters on Cyprus said in a communique Sunday that uncleared obstructions have cut the berthing capacity at Port Said Harbor by two-thirds but that the port is operating adequately. It did not mention work being done to clear ships sunk in the canal and now blocking navigation.

Red China 'Mobilizing' Egypt Aid

TOKYO (Monday)—(INS)—Communist China announced that "volunteers," doctors, technicians and transportation workers would be "mobilized" to aid Egypt.

A Japanese language broadcast by Peiping radio said a Chinese people's Egyptian aid committee had met and decided to aid Egypt with "true activity."

The broadcast did not specify the kind of "volunteers" to be mobilized under the direction of the committee, but said goods also will be sent to Egypt.

Previously, Red Chinese Premier Chou En-lai had said his nation's 600-million people were ready to offer "a helping hand to the Egyptians."

'Heroic'

Chou referred to Egyptian battling against invading forces as a "heroic war of resistance at the Suez Canal."

Chou also said that his people "offer the same helping hand to all countries and people, in Asia, Africa, and throughout the whole world, who are valiantly fighting against colonialism."

He also referred to Formosa in his address, declaring:

"This part of China's territory is still suffering from American aggression."

Chou called upon all "patriots" to bring about the "peaceful liberation' of Formosa.

Soviet Volunteers Ask Egypt Action

MOSCOW (AP) — Soviet volunteers continued to pour into the Egyptian Embassy Sunday even though the United Nations is ready to move its police units into Egypt for patrol duty.

While these Russians applied—in person and by letter—to join Egyptian forces in a "battle of independence," Western students of Soviet affairs believed there was a possibility the Kremlin's main attention might be shifting from Egypt to other Arab nations.

A spokesman at the Egyptian Embassy was asked whether any of the volunteers have actually left for Egypt.

"I can't say," he replied.

They could leave the country only with the Soviet government's authority.

The Soviet press made much of the departure of a group of Russian pilots to help man the Suez Canal after President Nasser nationalized that waterway July 26. Then there were two or three days of silence—followed by a Cairo announcement that the Russian pilots were already in the canal zone.

Would Accept Help

WASHINGTON (AP) — An Arab spokesman said that Egypt would accept the help of Soviet and Chinese "volunteers" in the present crisis under certain conditions.

Dr. Fayez Sayegh, official spokesman for the Arab League in America, made the statement during an interview on ABC-TV's "College Press Conference."

He did not say under what conditions Egypt would permit entry of Communist troops into her territory, but said that if Israel, Britain and France do not withdraw troops from Egypt they "will have to bear the consequences."

Hungary Fights On

Cardinal Mindszenty Asks West Action

VIENNA (AP)—Hungarian Nationalists tightened their belts and fought on Sunday with both arms and passive resistance against a fate which Josef Cardinal Mindszenty expects to be "greater oppression if the United Nations does not save us."

A procession of western newsmen caught in Budapest by the surprise Soviet attack a week ago finally made their way out to neutral Austria with fresh details of the onslaught and the slow silencing of the guns of the freedom fighters.

They crossed in dreary weather and a biting wind.

From Budapest came word that Janos Kadar, the puppet premier installed with the backing of Russian guns, had met with his deposed predecessor, Imre Nagy, in a desperate attempt to gain popular support.

Nothing is known of the talks except that they began, but Kadar implied in a radio speech that Nagy was unwilling to co-operate.

Somber View

Nagy had built up a broadly based government of all Hungary's traditional parties when the Russians unseated him.

Cardinal Mindszenty's somber veiw of the situation was expressed to western newsmen a week ago in an interview that reached Vienna only Sunday.

"Far quicker and more effective steps are needed," said the Roman Catholic primate — freed from a guarded castle just 12 days ago and now a refugee in the U. S. legation.

"A man who is drowning needs no messages.

"What we need is that the secretary general of the United Nations comes to Budapest today and not tomorrow. There has been much too much voting and oratory. What we need is action now."

A Soviet army estimated at 200,000 men holds all the rebellious nation in its iron grip.

'Must Remain'

And the Moscow radio told the Hungarian people in a broadcast Sunday night the Russian-commanded, eight nation Warsaw Alliance, under which Soviet troops are based in Hungary, "must remain in force as long as the North Atlantic Treaty Alliance (NATO) is in force."

The Secretary General, acting under the mandate voted him by the special general assembly session on Nov. 4, cabled both governments that he expected prompt affirmative action on his request to send U.N. observers into battle-torn Hungary.

Hammarskjold's cable to Moscow requested the Soviet government to support his "demand" to the puppet regime in Hungary for allowing the observers to enter the country.

He added that he felt "entitled to count on the assistance" of Russia in aiding the observers when they arrived in Hungary. Hammarskjold prodded the Soviet government for quick action on his

"I am convinced that the government of the U.S.S.R. is aware of the sense of urgency with which the general assembly envisages this problem."

'Shortly'

The U. N. chief sharply warned the Hungarian puppet government of Janos Kadar he would call for further assembly action unless it replied to his cables "shortly."

Hungarian Deputy Foreign Minister Istvan Sebes, in a curt reply, said his government was "weighing" the contents of the Hammarskjold cable.

Hammarskjold in an aide-memoir to Hungarian Deputy Foreign Minister Istvan Sebes said that it was with "disappointment" that he had not received any reply to his request regarding the sending of U. N. observers to Hungary, "although the situation is one of the greatest urgency."

'Without Delay'

He added:

"I must, therefore, reiterate my request and ask the government to send me a reply without further delay."

Hammarskjold warned that if the Hungarian government continued to ignore his notes he would then request the general assembly for further action on the Hungarian situation.

Hammarskjold sent a letter to the Hungarian government calling for information at "the earliest possible date" on the need for medical supplies, foodstuffs and clothes resulting from the Russian bloodbath.

Hammarskjold also requested the Hungarian government to send information on the best means of providing the aid.

PARADE, RITES FEATURE VETERANS DAY PROGRAM

A downtown parade starting at 10:40 a.m., with City Hall observances at 11 a.m., will highlight the Monday Veterans Days program in Lincoln.

Walter Anderson, 88, Spanish-American War veteran, will preside as honorary parade commander at the reviewing stand. Anderson is the oldest war veteran in Lancaster County.

A short ceremony at City Hall will feature a moment of silence saluting war dead and a rifle salute by the VFW firing squad. Planes from the Air National Guard will fly over the downtown area during the tribute.

Walter I. Black, parade director, will give a brief speech and introduce dignitaries, including Mayor Bennett Martin.

Parade

Veterans' organizations representing many of Nebraska's 225,000 participants in past wars will march in the parade which will start at 15th and P, move south to O, and west on O to the City Hall. After the service, marching units will circle to P St. and march east to 15th before disbanding.

Announcement of the unit judged as the best marching group will be made after the parade has passed the City Hall reviewing stand.

The services particularly honor an estimated 225,000 Nebraskans who have participated in the nation's wars. In statistics released by L. R. Eby, state veterans affairs director, 158,000 veterans are living in the state at present.

The statistics: Spanish-American War, 387 veterans; World War I, 23,000; World War II, 103,000, and Korean War, 32,000.

Foreneon ceremonies were planned at Beatrice after a parade.

Major Gordon Mohr of Lincoln, Air Force officer who is now adviser in charge of the Gen. John Pershing Armory of the Lincoln Reserve, was to speak at an American Legion banquet in Fairbury in the evening.

Attorney Ray C. Simmons was to be speaker at observances at Fremont.

Knowland Blasts Action By Britain, France, Israel

All Honorable Means Being Used By Ike

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Knowland (R-Calif) said Sunday economic sanctions should be used against Britain, France and Israel if they fail to observe a United Nations cease-fire resolution in the Middle East.

If economic sanctions failed, he added, the three nations should be expelled from the world organization.

The Senate minority leader said strong steps should be taken "or else the United Nations could go the way of the League of Nations."

Britain, France and Israel violated the U. N. charter by moving troops into Egypt, Knowland added, and he said they should stop "dilly-dallying" on the matter of withdrawing their forces.

"All Means"

"We can't have one rule for our friends and another rule for those we don't like as well," Knowland said.

He said the Eisenhower administration is taking "all honorable means" to keep the United States out of the Middle East conflict—but "this is not a 'peace at any price' policy."

Knowland told an NBC television panel show, — "Meet the Press"—"The Kremlin should not mistake the temper of the American people . . . We won't run if a fight is forced upon us."

If American troops are directly attacked, he said, or if "our national security is endangered," President Eisenhower would "call the Congress into session and lay the matter before them, and they would share the responsibility" for whatever steps were taken.

"The attempt of Russia to inject so-called volunteers into the Middle East fighting," Knowland said, "is a threat to the peace of the world." The use of such "volunteers", he said, "might" endanger our national security.

Knowland repeated a previous statement that Russia should be expelled from the United Nations if Russian troops are not withdrawn from rebellion-torn Hungary. He said he realized such a proposal could be vetoed in the Security Council, but that the action ought to be taken anyway for its moral effect.

If that failed, he said, the United States should withdraw its recognition of the Soviet Union.

An Organized Campaign?--

SNOWBALLING RUMORS WORRY POLAND'S REDS

WARSAW, Poland (AP) — A snowballing mass of rumors spread through Poland Sunday. The newspaper Trybuna Ludu denounced this as part of an organized campaign intended to foment unrest.

The rumors range from talk that Wladyslaw Gomulka, first secretary of the Polish Communist party, is ill or has been assassinated to gossip that Poland has refused an American loan of a billion dollars.

Trybuna said it is getting telephone calls constantly from people extremely worried by rumors. Among the questions the paper said it was asked:

Superstitious

"Is it true that comrade so-and-so—we don't mention his name because all Poles are superstitious—is seriously ill?

"Is it true that an attempt was made on the life of Prime Minister Cyrankiewicz?

"Is i ttrue that somebody came from abroad—meaning Moscow—and is to form a new government?"

Trybuna reported that all government leaders are healthy but overworked. It added:

"One thing is quite certain. That somewhere enemies still exist and it is impossible automatically to liquidate them overnight. This is one certain thing in this area of rumors going around the town—hostile rumors which are wilfully spread by those people or centers who do not want us to be able to repair our mistakes in peace and start building a Polish socialism."

There is no evidence that the recent crises in Soviet-Polish relations and tension resulting from the Hungarian tragedy has produced the slightest effect upon Gomulka's internal policy of advance toward an independent form of socialism.

Oh, No! Not Those British Fellows Again

A 30-year-old self-styled Paul Revere who tried to warn persons in the section near Randolph School of impending national disaster ended up in a sanitarium for his trouble.

Conducting a door-to-door campaign, he warned residents to lay in supplies of drinking water and blankets. He identified himself as a representative of the American Legion, but Legion officials said that the man had absolutely no connection with the Legion.

Police investigating found he had taken his own advice: his car was loaded with blankets and jars of drinking water. He was taken to the sanitarium and held for observation.

L.A. Crowd Urges Hesitant Man To Jump; He Doesn't

LOS ANGELES (INS)—A crowd of 2,500 watched for an hour and a half Sunday night while Barry R. Baus, 30-year-old unemployed shoe salesman, threatened to kill himself by jumping from a 13th floor ledge at the Cecil Hotel in downtown Los Angeles.

Growing impatient at his hesitancy to carry out his threat, the crowd urged him to go ahead and jump.

A man in the crowd yelled up to him:

"Why don't you jump? You chicken or something?"

Stung by the taunt, Baus shouted back:

"Why don't you come up and join me?"

His divorced wife, Ann, his attorney, two policemen and two clergymen finally talked him out of jumping, although he insisted that the people down below "came to see a show and I'm going to give it to them."

Most frontiersmen—hunters and Indian scouts—adopted the buckskin garb of the Indians. Not only were these tanned deer and antelope skins comfortable and long-wearing, they provided ideal camouflage in creeping up on wild animals or Indians. But when buckskin got wet and was removed, it shrank and dried stiff as wood!

Knowland Blasts Action By Britain, France, Israel

All Honorable Means Being Used By Ike

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Knowland (R-Calif) said Sunday economic sanctions should be used against Britain, France and Israel if they fail to observe a United Nations cease-fire resolution in the Middle East.

If economic sanctions failed, he added, the three nations should be expelled from the world organization.

The Senate minority leader said strong steps should be taken "or else the United Nations could go the way of the League of Nations."

Britain, France and Israel violated the U. N. charter by moving troops into Egypt, Knowland added, and he said they should stop "dilly-dallying" on the matter of withdrawing their forces.

"All Means"

"We can't have one rule for our friends and another rule for those we don't like as well," Knowland said.

He said the Eisenhower administration is taking "all honorable means" to keep the United States out of the Middle East conflict—but "this is not a 'peace at any price' policy."

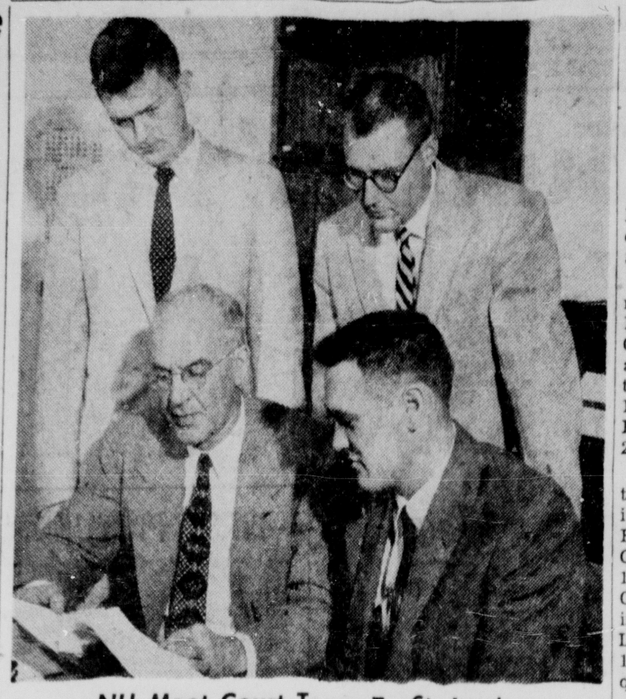

Knowland told an NBC television panel show, — "Meet the Press"—"The Kremlin should not mistake the temper of the American people . . . We won't run if a fight is forced upon us."

If American troops are directly attacked, he said, or if "our national security is endangered," President Eisenhower would "call the Congress into session and lay the matter before them, and they would share the responsibility" for whatever steps were taken.

"The attempt of Russia to inject so-called volunteers into the Middle East fighting," Knowland said, "is a threat to the peace of the world." The use of such "volunteers", he said, "might" endanger our national security.

Knowland repeated a previous statement that Russia should be expelled from the United Nations if Russian troops are not withdrawn from rebellion-torn Hungary. He said he realized such a proposal could be vetoed in the Security Council, but that the action ought to be taken anyway for its moral effect.

If that failed, he said, the United States should withdraw its recognition of the Soviet Union.

An Organized Campaign?—

SNOWBALLING RUMORS WORRY POLAND'S REDS

WARSAW, Poland (AP) — A snowballing mass of rumors spread through Poland Sunday. The newspaper Trybuna Ludu denounced this as part of an organized campaign intended to foment unrest.

The rumors range from talk that Wladyslaw Gomulka, first secretary of the Polish Communist party, is ill or has been assassinated to gossip that Poland has refused an American loan of a billion dollars.

Trybuna said it is getting telephone calls constantly from people extremely worried by rumors. Among the questions the paper said it was asked:

Superstitious

"Is it true that comrade so-and-so—we don't mention his name because all Poles are superstitious—is seriously ill?

"Is it true that an attempt was made on the life of Prime Minister Cyrankiewicz?

"Is it true that somebody came from abroad—meaning Moscow—and is to form a new government?"

Trybuna reported that all government leaders are healthy but overworked. It added:

"One thing is quite certain. That somewhere enemies still exist and it is impossible automatically to liquidate them overnight. This is one certain thing in this area of rumors going around the town—hostile rumors which are wilfully spread by those people or centers who do not want us to be able to repair our mistakes in peace and start building a Polish socialism."

There is no evidence that the recent crises in Soviet-Polish relations and tension resulting from the Hungarian tragedy has produced the slightest effect upon Gomulka's internal policy of advance toward an independent form of socialism.

Oh, No! Not Those British Fellows Again

A 30-year-old self-styled Paul Revere who tried to warn persons in the section near Randolph School of impending national disaster ended up in a sanitarium for his trouble.

Conducting a door-to-door campaign, he warned residents to lay in supplies of drinking water and blankets. He identified himself as a representative of the American Legion, but Legion officials said that the man had absolutely no connection with the Legion.

Police investigating found he had taken his own advice: his car was loaded with blankets and jars of drinking water. He was taken to the sanitarium and held for observation.

L.A. Crowd Urges Hesitant Man To Jump; He Doesn't

LOS ANGELES (INS)—A crowd of 2,500 watched for an hour and a half Sunday night while Barry R. Baus, 30-year-old unemployed shoe salesman, threatened to kill himself by jumping from a 13th floor ledge at the Cecil Hotel in downtown Los Angeles.

Growing impatient at his hesitancy to carry out his threat, the crowd urged him to go ahead and jump.

A man in the crowd yelled up to him:

"Why don't you jump? You chicken or something?"

Stung by the taunt, Baus shouted back:

"Why don't you come up and join me?"

His divorced wife, Ann, his attorney, two policemen and two clergymen finally talked him out of jumping, although he insisted that the people down below "came to see a show and I'm going to give it to them."

It Happened In NEBRASKA---

Most frontiersmen—hunters and Indian scouts—adopted the buckskin garb of the Indians. Not only were these tanned deer and antelope skins comfortable and long-wearing, they provided ideal camouflage in creeping up on wild animals or Indians. But when buckskin got wet and was removed, it shrank and dried stiff as wood!

A Stitch In Time

The report of Black and Veatch, Kansas City engineering firm, which has served the people of Lincoln for some years points out that when the final steps of a water expansion program are complete here this community should be safe for some years to come against any demand made upon its municipal water plant.

Figures on the available supply can bring that fact home all the more vividly. Punishing as the heat was on occasion last summer there were only two or three days when water requirements for a 24-hour period exceeded 40 million gallons. When all the work now under construction or contemplated as a part of the expansion program for which the people of Lincoln approved an issue of $8½ million in revenue bonds is completed, the city's maximum supply for any 24-hour period will be 70 million gallons. That is nearly double what we have been using any single day for the last two years.

We are lucky.

Lincoln took a stitch in time against continuing water shortages.

So many cities, not only in the Midwest but in other regions, faced shortages last summer, and were compelled to ration their limited supplies. We got through in the summer of 1956 and there is the deep satisfaciton of knowing that 1957 will not project any emergency.

The Long Range Answer

The rank and file of people are seldom taken into confidence in regard to the interior reasons for action by great powers. They have to be content with stated reasons, always lofty nonself-serving ones. The creation of Israel serves as a good example. Unquestionably the powers that engineered that new state foresaw benefits to themselves aside from the satisfaction of creating a new state for the uplift of mankind.

But Israel stands out as a striking example of the efficacy of the new doctrine that it is better to set people to work developing themselves and their resources in view of increasing enlightenment and prosperity rather than to march over them with armies and continue them in backwardness. It also illustrates the difficulties to be encountered by people and nations who set forth to make the desert bloom.

One of the most striking things about Israel is that people with Western know-how are erecting a modern, successful state in an area that has long been a backward and poverty-ridden region. It is showing the world the good things that can be made to happen even where prospects seem most poor. It is also showing the difficulties that are encountered by one advanced people when surrounded by their opposite numbers.

Now that armies are marching again in the Near East it will be tragic and to no long range gain if the keepers of the peace do not see that the best course will be to set the misery-ridden dissidents to work with Western aid and direction on a diligent program of self-advancement, combining a resolution for a more abundant Near East with acceptance of the fact that the ones being helped will not make it easy. There is seldom total joy in doing good, but the results are so worthwhile it is always worth all the effort and sacrifice and patience required.

Public Winks At It

In all of the analyses of the recent election the commentators and their readers are perhaps missing the one revelation which most needs to be evaluated.

In Illinois the voters returned a governor to office together with numerous lesser members of his administration and perforce the general political organization that binds them together despite the most sensational scandals in recent years. More than $1 million of public money was made off with. There was evidence of skulduggery in the state's distribution of school lunch supplies and other instances of corruption. The instances were well aired by the state's press and prison sentences removed doubts as to the reality of the charges.

No evidence has been presented to implicate Gov. Stratton. Yet a governor theoretically shares some of the responsibility for the wrongful acts of his administration and certainly a political organization that goes unpunished and which has already demonstrated weakness remains more or less in character for further responsibility in the field of public trust.

It is a curious connotation that certain types of scandalous procedure do not awaken a sufficient sense of indignation within the rank and file and that is a criticism of the voters themselves. The Illinois instance is not the first. The earlier national scandals of Teapot Dome, which also involved the Navy oil reserves, and the Veterans Bureau had no appreciable effect on later general voting, albeit high level action brought about the recovery of a good deal of the oil reserves and punished some of the individual public malefactors, including one cabinet official who was sent to prison.

Much has been said of the fallibility of congressmen and senators and of highly placed administrative figures, but it must be said that in defense of public welfare, as finders and punishers of public misdoing, they have a better record than the public.

Of Men And Things

By JAMES E. LAWRENCE

Somebody in the Eisenhower administration is using his head. News sources give credit to the President for a complete, searching review of natural resource and power policies. We might wish that something other than politics led to this decision to re-examine what Republicans proudly hailed as the partnership program in river basin development but it is enough to know that at last Washington has discovered that in many sections west of the Missouri river there is a genuine dissatisfaction with power policy as presently administered.

★

Chances are that a single loss to Senator Wayne Morse in Oregon, the man the Republicans hoped most of all to defeat, would not have been sufficient to bring about a re-examination of resource and power policy under Ike.

Morse's Victory Jarred 'Em

Morse, it is true, was a marked man. His defeat would have filled Republican cups to overflowing. But Morse buried Douglas McKay under a heap of 60,000 votes—and will be on hand for six more years to cause trouble for the GOP. He not only won but surprisingly a Democratic governor was elected along with Morse in Oregon and just across the border in Washington State Democratic Senator Magnusson engulfed Governor Arthur Langlie by more than 100,000 votes. It was tough in Idaho, rugged in Nevada, even harder going in Colorado. Where public power was an issue and where it was presented intelligently and with persistence, it was effective.

★

President Eisenhower is to be credited with a lot more common sense than those around him if subsequent developments confirm the news columns indicating resource and power policy will be gone over step by step. There has been much said about the new Republicanism. It was Theodore Roosevelt, a Republican, who set the design for resource development in the early years of the present century. One of the basic decisions reached had to do with the disposal of electricity generated at dams built by Uncle Sam by the use of tax revenue. Those dams served several purposes. In the 17 reclamation states they provided for the storage of vast amounts of water—the development of irrigation, and the generation of cheap electricity. It was the latter that reduced the cost of putting water on the land.

★

While irrigation has paid a part of the huge expense of the multiple purpose dam, it was the sale of electricity, and the profits from electricity, that in the largest sense reimbursed Uncle Sam for the millions which he poured out in river basin development. Naturally the private utilities fought desperately to prevent the electricity going to public bodies—municipalities—to rural electrification districts—or to other public agencies. And where under the partnership plan power was turned over to the private utilities to be retailed to electric users, the fear was of increased costs to the consumers. But it was not simply the resource and the public power issue that left a bad taste in the mouths of Republicans. In neighboring South Dakota much as there has been a disposition to brush aside the farm discontent, it was apparent there. There was a lot of it in Iowa where a Democratic governor replaced a Republican, and four of the congressional races saw the two parties divided by only a few hundred votes. It had something to do with the defeat of a popular former governor in Colorado—Dan Thornton—who lost to a Democrat although supposed to be unbeatable. Before entering the race Thornton had been chosen to head up the Republican farm campaign, with headquarters in Chicago.

Answer To The Sub?

The Navy has announced the perfection of an atomic depth charge—a nuclear weapon of such might that one explosion is sufficient to destroy under sea craft for several miles around. This is in contrast to the best of conventional depth charges in World War II whose not-always-sure effective range under water was rated in terms of yards.

Perhaps in this new weapon is to be found the answer to the atomic submarine whose great cruising power beyond the depth of present detecting devices has made it one of the most treacherous and formidable weapons in history. Airplanes can be heard, seen and opposed before they reach their target, but a submarine can pop up from the ocean floor almost anywhere at anytime to deliver atomic missiles against which there would be little if any warning.

The flaw in the whole thing, of course, is the contamination of land, air and water with radioactive substances and again poses the question of what is a winner to do with a world he has gained by nuclear blasts. No one wants a prize he can't live with.

Now The Other Way

Pointed research will soon get under way on the theory that if great heat will cause nuclear reactions so also will great cold. Since science is already producing hot reactions it will explore the theory that extreme cold will speed up neutrons and shrink their orbits sufficiently to collide with their nuclei. If the cold reaction works out, it has been explained, it will have an advantage in that almost anything can be used as fuel, even common sand.

War Scare Hit Washington

WASHINGTON—Here is the inside story of the greatest war scare Washington has witnessed since Pearl Harbor. It took place early last week following receipt of a blunt warning from Russia threatening to use force against England and France if they did not get out of Suez. This caused the following chain reaction:

1—All U.S. atomic bomber units were put on the alert.

2—Warships were dispersed so as not to be targets for another Pearl Harbor.

3—Amphibian training maneuvers off the southern Atlantic coast were canceled and the airplane carriers Forrestal, Saratoga, and other key ships were prepared for action.

4—An emergency meeting called at the White House worked late into Monday night trying to decide whether Russia was serious about its threat to use force, including rockets, against England, to halt war in the Near East.

Acting Secretary of State Herbert Hoover was the most worried of all. He had reports that 150 out of 300 Russian divisions were on the ready alert, that the borders of Poland had been sealed, that Russian troops were on the Iranian border, that four new Red Army divisions had poured into Hungary, making a total of 100,000 Russian troops in that little country.

Extra troops were necessary because Red army units already inside Hungary had refused to fire on Hungarian rebels. First the Kremlin pulled four divisions out of Rumania to enter Hungary, but when rebellion smoldered in Rumania, they were rushed back, and four new divisions were sent direct from Russia.

☆ ☆ ☆

AMERICAN JITTERS

American intelligence also reported that the Red army in Hungary was under the personal command of President Eisenhower's wartime friend, Marshal Zhukov, though he was under orders from the Kremlin. Those in control in the Kremlin appeared to be Anastas Mikoyan and a new figure, Mikhail Suslov, a member of the Soviet presidium.

British intelligence also reported that they had destroyed a large number of Russian MIG's recently arrived in Egypt. One British report put the number at 35, another at 48. The British also reported they had sighted some Soviet Bisons on Oct. 30, flying over Egypt. This is the huge new Russian jet bomber, equivalent to our B-52.

All this sent the jitters through top American leaders. Fears were expressed that, with the British and French busy at Suez, their home territory, virtually undefended, might be attacked.

At the emergency White House meeting, however, Allan Dulles, head of Central Intelligence and younger brother of John Foster, calmed official fears. He reported that Russian policies in the satellite countries had backfired so disastrously that the Kremlin was trying to save face by waving the big stick in other areas. He argued, however, that Red army leaders were too realistic to start an atomic war.

MARQUIS CHILDS

Real Bipartisan Policy Necessary

WASHINGTON—In foreign policy, where the order of the day has been too little and too late, a new Eisenhower administration with an overwhelming personal mandate must move quickly to try to formulate a long-term policy and the means to carry out such a policy.

The position in which the United States finds itself today is one of almost-desperate uncertainty. In the Middle East against a mountain of evidence, including the fact of successful Russian intrusion in that region through the arms deal with Egypt, this government kept on pretending that everything would turn out all right.

But the deterioration in America's position had begun long before it became frighteningly evident in the present crisis. The comfortable assumption of almost everyone in the administration has been that the temporary, uneasy settlements which had checked the fighting in various parts of the world could be labeled "peace" and put out of mind. In the presidential campaign peace was a final and a patented claim that the Republicans advertised at every crossroads.

The goal of the most influential men in the administration has been to balance the budget and return to normalcy. And that coincided with the desire of most Americans who were happy to accept the twin promises of peace and prosperity. But it did not coincide with the real facts underlying the surface calm.

Secretary of the Treasury George M. Humphrey and Secretary of Defense Charles E. Wilson have steadily pushed reductions in the armed forces which have meant tax reductions and lower expenditures. Humphrey has held the deep conviction that the greater danger was continuing high military expenditures and high taxes which would undermine the American free enterprise system. On August 7 when the Suez Canal crisis had begun to bring to a boil the implacable British-French-Arab-Israeli hostilities in the area, Wilson referred to it as a "ripple" and a "relatively small thing" which could not affect American military policy.

The armed forces have been cut by about 700,000 men over the past three and a half years. But the reduction from 3,500,000 men to 2,800,000 does not reflect the relatively far deeper cuts in the defense structure. Those cuts in transportation and other means for bringing a force to bear on a given situation have meant greater and greater reliance on bigger and bigger nuclear bombs.

Admiral Arthur Radford, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, has not merely gone along with this policy. At times, as in the recent instance of the memorandum suggesting a further cut of 800,000 in military manpower, he has seemed to lead the way.

But, as the Russian threat to Britain and France of atomic retaliation showed—it was almost an ultimatum—a dictatorial power can exploit the nuclear stalemate with greater ruthlessness than the democracies. This is the weakness of resting on an alleged nuclear stalemate.

BOB CONSIDINE

Last Free Premier Reports On Poland

NEW YORK (INS)—Just a few days ago, 50,000 youths silently marched through the avenues of Cracow in Communist Poland. The mute parade attracted many thousands, some of them curious enough to ask the why and the wherefor.

"We must," was the usual answer from the boys. "We must!"

Many apparently assumed it was another Communist demonstration. But these orders to march came from no commissar. It was a spiritual command, a spiritual demonstration. The paraders were expressing their sympathy not with Communism but with freedom—and at the risk of their young necks, for the new ruler of that country, Gomulka, is as red as any herring before him.

☆ ☆ ☆

The man who told this story is a smallish, rugged, round-headed, gray-eyed patriot whose countenance bears signs of tragedy but who can still smile occasionally. He is Stanislaw Mikolajczyk, the last free Prime Minister of Poland, now a leader in such groups as the International Peasant Union. He has just returned from the Union's meeting in Paris.

"Fighters for freedom in Poland and Hungary have made permanent gains," this top authority said. "Never again will the peoples of those countries be forced back into complete subjugation. They will be very careful—people want to continue living—but they'll never give up their ideal, their hope of being free."

The Soviet Union, in Mikolajczyk's opinion, has failed in a vital particular in its brutal colonialistic program. It hasn't delivered. The help it pledged China has not been delivered. It has given Egypt very little. It has milked rather than fed the various so-called People's Democracies. So there are economic as well as political and social reasons for the towering gripe of the slave states. There is pressure for a change in Russia, reports the man who once sat down and learned through trial and error that business can't be done with the Kremlin.

☆ ☆ ☆

The Polish Red Army could rise when the time is ripe, despite the illegal presence in Poland of eight divisions of Soviet Union forces, the former Premier said. The people could rise even before the Army. They do what they can to break the back of the U.S.S.R. Even the Kremlin admits that Poland is producing hardly half the grain it did before the war.

"The greatest terror and bloodshed, such as in Hungary, won't change people dedicated to freedom," Mikolajczyk said. "I've just seen evidence of public protest as never before. We have proof of great dissension in Russia itself. There have been countless demonstrations in Georgia and the Ukraine. The pressure of public opinion in the west is being felt. It may save many thousands of freedom fighters who otherwise would be killed.

BILL DOBLER At City Hall

Consideration To 'Human Element'

There are many disturbing things about city government—some about which nothing can be done and others which might easily be corrected.

Bill Dobler

One of the hardest decisions for the City Council to make will be on the proposed minimum standards housing ordinance. Whether the ordinance is legal or not as argued profusely by a host of lawyers brings no particular pangs of conscience.

Another aspect of the measure, however, has a very human side and one which cannot be disposed of without discomfort. There is little doubt that the ordinance as now drafted would have a serious effect upon certain people.

This would be an adverse effect and it would be felt primarily by the poor and aged. How many is unknown but it is a fact that some people would find themselves in dire circumstances if the ordinance is passed.

This would come about because the places in which some of these people live would not comply with the ordinance. Some of these places could not be made to comply and there are others which if remodeled to comply, would command a higher rent.

That means the people so involved would have to find other quarters which they probably could not do at a price they could afford. All of this does not mean that the ordinance cannot or should not be passed but it does mean that the city government has not fully accepted its entire responsibility in the field of housing.

☆ ☆ ☆

By passage of this ordinance, problems of basic human needs would be created but there is nothing on the other side by way of a solution. It means that the ordinance cannot be passed with full knowledge of its repercussions without any remorse on the part of those who bless it with their vote.

Disturbing to the soul in a similar manner are such things as the recent change in zoning at 70th and Vine from residential to local business. Changes in zoning are not always simple matters of good land use but involve as well the same basic human element as above—a place to live.

In this case, the Council approved business zoning right in the center of a growing residential area. What this does to the value of surrounding homes is hard to determine with any degree of exactness but the home owners feel it substantially reduces the value of their property.

Again, this particular case involves many people who can little afford to take any great amount of financial loss. The equity they have in their home represents a substantial part of their entire savings. It does not mean they are poor but they are not in a position to just take a loss with a smile, pack their belongings and move to another spot.

If they lost their equity by a move, chances are that many of them could not swing a second purchase. In addition to its financial effects, such zoning is not a desirable thing in a neighborhood. It detracts from the area as a place in which to raise a family and contributes nothing to the wholesomeness of the neighborhood such as homes would do in its place.

☆ ☆ ☆

Those are things which make it hard to swallow such acts of progress, if that is what this change represents, regardless of the legal right or wrong of the action.

The Council, it seems, often fails to give the deep consideration it should to zoning matters. These are matters which are of vital concern to the people immediately involved and have a serious effect upon the community as a whole.

In this particular case, zoning at the same intersection had previously been defeated. This most recent change was opposed by City Planning Engineer Douglas Bregden as well as the Planning Commission. It was classed by Bregden and the Commission as poor zoning, regardless of what it did or did not do to the people living in the area.

The Council is given final authority in zoning matters on the assumption that there should be a right of individuals to appeal the decisions of any one group and with the knowledge that the commission may not always make the right decision. However, the commission and what it represents is materially weakened when the Council overrrides it on major decisions.

For this reason, the Council should be extremely sure of its position and fully informed before it reverses the commission.

☆ ☆ ☆

One of the main advocates of this particular change, Councilman Rees Wilkinson, never once made note of the commission's action on the 70th and Vine matter. However, he is remembered equally well for times in the past when he agreed with the commission and then held high a verbal flaming torch in support of the advisory group.

When he and the commission happen to be on the same side, he proclaims with great vigor that there is no use having the commission if the Council doesn't listen to what it says. If he disagrees with the commission, he shows no knowledge of the fact that the group is in existence.

This is the kind of inconsistence that the average person fails completely to understand. It is the kind of thing also which generally works a hardship on some groups and destroys the people's faith in city government.

The Collective Mind

Lincoln, Neb.

To the editor of The Lincoln Star: The people of the U.S. spoke the collective mind loud and clear in the election. They said two things that appear in conflict but essentially are not: We like Ike. We prefer the Democratic party.

The New Deal and the Fair Deal received substantial approval in the congressional elections. But the people were equally insistent that Ike should run the show.

We might translate it in another way by saying that the voters chided the Democrats for not producing the sort of candidate they wanted for President. Likewise they chided Ike for not declaring that he was a Democrat when he first ran for President.

Capitalism Wins

Riverton, Neb.

To the editor of The Lincoln Star: Ike's triumph was also a victory for capitalism. That should console the defeated Stevenson followers who like capitalism. Of course, it would have been a triumph for the capitalistic way had Adlai won, though he addressed his appeal to unconforming Americans, liberals, labor insurgents. Ike got the most of them.

Some believed that Adlai should have been the common people's choice because he was a little less capitalistic and for that reason a bit more suitable to an America whose vast majority consists of common people. But the commoners voted for Ike all over the nation.

It appears the rich and the poor showed their regular Americanism by choosing Ike to run the American system, though he is running it just as the Democrats before him.

It seems that America will take easy money, pensions, soil checks, social security, subsidies, unemployment — pawns — along with a decrease in freedom and independence. And evidently they do not think there is much difference between Republicans and Democrats.

It was the war issue that elected Ike again. He got us out of Truman's war and he made American capitalism prosper. Will that continue for four more years without war or panic? Ike is on a hot spot. He needs to pray.

Our Proper Course

Curtis, Neb.

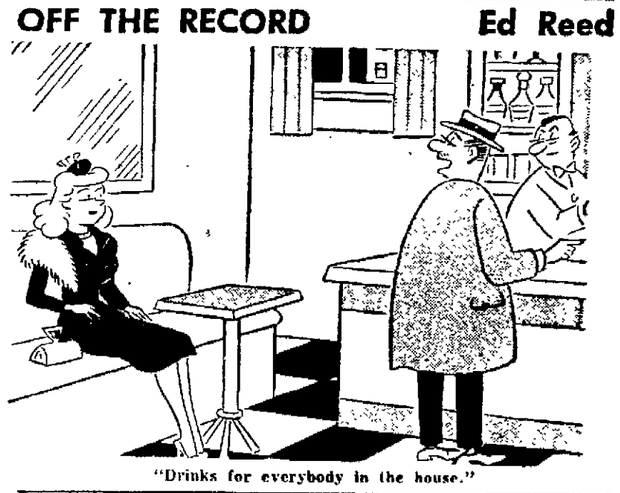

To the editor of The Lincoln Star: Vox populi; vox dei. That appears to be the truth of the last election. God has raised up Eisenhower with his slogans of peace to keep us out of the war which threatens to come. We are not obligated to get into this last affair in the Near East. We must not. Our friends are fighting contrary to our advice and have not thought of what it can lead to. Russia has sent military men to Egypt and now moves large war supplies and troops that way, and even Red China wants to get in on the finals. Yes finals. "Peace—but there is no peace."

Our duty is to stop sending munitions, instead relief materials. It is our duty to help the displaced Arabs find new homes. But we should use our moral strength to prevent their warring against Israel. That means their destruction.

We should hope and pray for the health and strength of our President now.

A Stitch In Time

The report of Black and Veatch, Kansas City engineering firm, which has served the people of Lincoln for some years points out that when the final steps of a water expansion program are complete here this community should be safe for some years to come against any demand made upon its municipal water plant.

Figures on the available supply can bring that fact home all the more vividly. Punishing as the heat was on occasion last summer there were only two or three days when water requirements for a 24-hour period exceeded 40 million gallons. When all the work now under construction or contemplated as a part of the expansion program for which the people of Lincoln approved an issue of $8½ million in revenue bonds is completed, the city's maximum supply for any 24-hour period will be 70 million gallons. That is nearly double what we have been using any single day for the last two years.

We are lucky.

Lincoln took a stitch in time against continuing water shortages.

So many cities, not only in the Midwest but in other regions, faced shortages last summer, and were compelled to ration their limited supplies. We got through in the summer of 1956 and there is the deep satisfaciton of knowing that 1957 will not project any emergency.

The Long Range Answer

The rank and file of people are seldom taken into confidence in regard to the interior reasons for action by great powers. They have to be content with stated reasons, always lofty non-self-serving ones. The creation of Israel serves as a good example. Unquestionably the powers that engineered that new state foresaw benefits to themselves aside from the satisfaction of creating a new state for the uplift of mankind.

But Israel stands out as a striking example of the efficacy of the new doctrine that it is better to set people to work developing themselves and their resources in view of increasing enlightenment and prosperity rather than to march over them with armies and continue them in backwardness. It also illustrates the difficulties to be encountered by people and nations who set forth to make the desert bloom.

One of the most striking things about Israel is that people with Western know-how are erecting a modern, successful state in an area that has long been a backward and poverty-ridden region. It is showing the world the good things that can be made to happen even where prospects seem most poor. It is also showing the difficulties that are encountered by one advanced people when surrounded by their opposite numbers.

Now that armies are marching again in the Near East it will be tragic and to no long range gain if the keepers of the peace do not see that the best course will be to set the misery-ridden dissidents to work with Western aid and direction on a diligent program of self-advancement, combining a resolution for a more abundant Near East with acceptance of the fact that the ones being helped will not make it easy. There is seldom total joy in doing good, but the results are so worthwhile it is always worth all the effort and sacrifice and patience required.

Public Winks At It

In all of the analyses of the recent election the commentators and their readers are perhaps missing the one revelation which most needs to be evaluated.

In Illinois the voters returned a governor to office together with numerous lesser members of his administration and perforce the general political organization that binds them together despite the most sensational scandals in recent years. More than $1 million of public money was made off with. There was evidence of skulduggery in the state's distribution of school lunch supplies and other instances of corruption. The instances were well aired by the state's press and prison sentences removed doubts as to the reality of the charges.

No evidence has been presented to implicate Gov. Stratton. Yet a governor theoretically shares some of the responsibility for the wrongful acts of his administration and certainly a political organization that goes unpunished and which has already demonstrated weakness remains more or less in character for further responsibility in the field of public trust.

It is a curious connotation that certain types of scandalous procedure do not awaken a sufficient sense of indignation within the rank and file and that is a criticism of the voters themselves. The Illinois instance is not the first. The earlier national scandals of Teapot Dome, which also involved the Navy oil reserves, and the Veterans Bureau had no appreciable effect on later general voting, albeit high level action brought about the recovery of a good deal of the oil reserves and punished some of the individual public malefactors, including one cabinet official who was sent to prison.

Much has been said of the fallibility of congressmen and senators and of highly placed administrative figures, but it must be said that in defense of public welfare, as finders and punishers of public misdoing, they have a better record than the public.

Of Men And Things

By JAMES E. LAWRENCE

Somebody in the Eisenhower administration is using his head. News sources give credit to the President for a complete, searching review of natural resource and power policies. We might wish that something other than politics led to this decision to re-examine what Republicans proudly hailed as the partnership program in river basin development but it is enough to know that, at last Washington has discovered that in many sections west of the Missouri river there is a genuine dissatisfaction with power policy as presently administered.

★

Chances are that a single loss to Senator Wayne Morse in Oregon, the man the Republicans hoped most of all to defeat, would not have been sufficient to bring about a re-examination of resource and power policy under Ike.

Morse's Victory Jarred 'Em

Morse, it is true, was a marked man. His defeat would have filled Republican cups to overflowing. But Morse buried Douglas McKay under a heap of 60,000 votes—and will be on hand for six more years to cause trouble for the GOP. He not only won but surprisingly a Democratic governor was elected along with Morse in Oregon and just across the border in Washington State Democratic Senator Magnusson engulfed Governor Arthur Langlie by more than 100,000 votes. It was tough in Idaho, rugged in Nevada, even harder going in Colorado. Where public power was an issue and where it was presented intelligently and with persistence, it was effective.

★

President Eisenhower is to be credited with a lot more common sense than those around him if subsequent developments confirm the news columns indicating resource and power policy will be gone over step by step. There has been much said about the new Republicanism. It was Theodore Roosevelt, a Republican, who set the design for resource development in the early years of the present century. One of the basic decisions reached had to do with the disposal of electricity generated at dams built by Uncle Sam by the use of tax revenue. Those dams served several purposes. In the 17 reclamation states they provided for the storage of vast amounts of water—the development of irrigation, and the generation of cheap electricity. It was the latter that reduced the cost of putting water on the land.

★

While irrigation has paid a part of the huge expense of the multiple purpose dam, it was the sale of electricity, and the profits from electricity that in the largest sense reimbursed Uncle Sam for the millions which he poured out in river basin development. Naturally the private utilities fought desperately to prevent the electricity going to public bodies—municipalities—to rural electrification districts—or to other public agencies. And where under the partnership plan power was turned over to the private utilities to be retailed to electric users, the fear was of increased costs to the consumers. But it was not simply the resource and the public power issue that left a bad taste in the mouths of Republicans. In neighboring South Dakota much as there has been a disposition to brush aside the farm discontent, it was apparent there. There was a lot of it in Iowa where a Democratic governor replaced a Republican, and four of the congressional races saw the two parties divided by only a few hundred votes. It had something to do with the defeat of a popular former governor in Colorado—Dan Thornton—who lost to a Democrat although supposed to be unbeatable. Before entering the race Thornton had been chosen to head up the Republican farm campaign, with headquarters in Chicago.

★

It is not easy to laugh off this defeat. While the White House is about it how about reviewing Benson farm policy? Opposition to it cut a much more fancy figure than the returns reveal at first blush.

Answer To The Sub?

The Navy has announced the perfection of an atomic depth charge—a nuclear weapon of such might that one explosion is sufficient to destroy under sea craft for several miles around. This is in contrast to the best of conventional depth charges in World War II whose not-always-sure effective range under water was rated in terms of yards.

Perhaps in this new weapon is to be found the answer to the atomic submarine whose great cruising power beyond the depth of present detecting devices has made it one of the most treacherous and formidable weapons in history. Airplanes can be heard, seen and opposed before they reach their target, but a submarine can pop up from the ocean floor almost anywhere at anytime to deliver atomic missiles against which there would be little if any warning.

The flaw in the whole thing, of course, is the contamination of land, air and water with radioactive substances and again poses the question of what is a winner to do with a world he has gained by nuclear blasts. No one wants a prize he can't live with.

Now The Other Way

Pointed research will soon get under way on the theory that if great heat will cause nuclear reactions so also will great cold. Since science is already producing hot reactions it will explore the theory that extreme cold will speed up neutrons and shrink their orbits sufficiently to collide with their nuclei. If the cold reaction works out, it has been explained, it will have an advantage in that almost anything can be used as fuel, even common sand.

War Scare Hit Washington

WASHINGTON—Here is the inside story of the greatest war scare Washington has witnessed since Pearl Harbor. It took place early last week following receipt of a blunt warning from Russia threatening to use force against England and France if they did not get out of Suez. This caused the following chain reaction:

1—All U.S. atomic bomber units were put on the alert.

2—Warships were dispersed so as not to be targets for another Pearl Harbor.

3—Amphibian training maneuvers off the southern Atlantic coast were canceled and the airplane carriers Forrestal, Saratoga, and other key ships were prepared for action.

4—An emergency meeting called at the White House worked late into Monday night trying to decide whether Russia was serious about its threat to use force, including rockets, against England, to halt war in the Near East.

Acting Secretary of State Herbert Hoover was the most worried of all. He had reports that 150 out of 300 Russian divisions were on the ready alert, that the borders of Poland had been sealed, that Russian troops were on the Iranian border, that four new Red Army divisions had poured into Hungary, making a total of 100,000 Russian troops in that little country.

Extra troops were necessary because Red army units already inside Hungary had refused to fire on Hungarian rebels. First the Kremlin pulled four divisions out of Rumania to enter Hungary, but when rebellion smoldered in Rumania, they were rushed back, and four new divisions were sent direct from Russia.

☆ ☆ ☆

AMERICAN JITTERS

American intelligence also reported that the Red army in Hungary was under the personal command of President Eisenhower's wartime friend, Marshal Zhukov, though he was under orders from the Kremlin. Those in control in the Kremlin appeared to be Anastas Mikoyan and a new figure, Mikhail Suslov, a member of the Soviet presidium.

British intelligence also reported that they had destroyed a large number of Russian MIG's recently arrived in Egypt. One British report put the number at 35, another at 48. The British also reported they had sighted some Soviet Bisons on Oct. 30, flying over Egypt. This is the huge new Russian jet bomber, equivalent to our B-52.

All this sent the jitters through top American leaders. Fears were expressed that, with the British and French busy at Suez, their home territory, virtually undefended, might be attacked.

At the emergency White House meeting, however, Allan Dulles, head of Central Intelligence and younger brother of John Foster, calmed official fears. He reported that Russian policies in the satellite countries had backfired so disastrously that the Kremlin was trying to save face by waving the big stick in other areas. He argued, however, that Red army leaders were too realistic to start an atomic war.

MARQUIS CHILDS

Real Bipartisan Policy Necessary

WASHINGTON—In foreign policy, where the order of the day has been too little and too late, a new Eisenhower administration with an overwhelming personal mandate must move quickly to try to formulate a long-term policy and the means to carry out such a policy.

The position in which the United States finds itself today is one of almost-desperate uncertainty. In the Middle East against a mountain of evidence, including the fact of successful Russian intrusion in that region through the arms deal with Egypt, this government kept on pretending that everything would turn out all right.

But the deterioration in America's position had begun long before it became frighteningly evident in the present crisis. The comfortable assumption of almost everyone in the administration has been that the temporary, uneasy settlements which had checked the fighting in various parts of the world could be labeled "peace" and put out of mind. In the presidential campaign peace was a final and a patented claim that the Republicans advertised at every crossroads.

The goal of the most influential men in the administration has been to balance the budget and return to normalcy. And that coincided with the desire of most Americans who were happy to accept the twin promises of peace and prosperity. But it did not coincide with the real facts underlying the surface calm.

Secretary of the Treasury George M. Humphrey and Secretary of Defense Charles E. Wilson have steadily pushed reductions in the armed forces which have meant tax reductions and lower expenditures. Humphrey has held the deep conviction that the greater danger was continuing high military expenditures and high taxes which would undermine the American free enterprise system. On August 7 when the Suez Canal crisis had begun to bring to a boil the implacable British-French-Arab-Israeli hostilities in the area, Wilson referred to it as a "ripple" and a "relatively small thing" which could not affect American military policy.

The armed forces have been cut by about 700,000 men over the past three and a half years. But the reduction from 3,500,000 men to 2,800,000 does not reflect the relatively far deeper cuts in the defense structure. Those cuts in transportation and other means for bringing a force to bear on a given situation have meant greater and greater reliance on bigger and bigger nuclear bombs.

Admiral Arthur Radford, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, has not merely gone along with this policy. At times, as in the recent instance of the memorandum suggesting a further cut of 800,000 in military manpower, he has seemed to lead the way.

But, as the Russian threat to Britain and France of atomic retaliation showed—it was almost an ultimatum—a dictatorial power can exploit the nuclear stalemate with greater ruthlessness than the democracies. This is the weakness of resting on an alleged nuclear stalemate.

BOB CONSIDINE

Last Free Premier Reports On Poland

NEW YORK (INS)—Just a few days ago, 50,000 youths silently marched through the avenues of Cracow in Communist Poland. The mute parade attracted many thousands, some of them curious enough to ask the why and the wherefor.

"We must," was the usual answer from the boys. "We must!"

Many apparently assumed it was another Communist demonstration. But these orders to march came from no commissar. It was a spiritual command, a spiritual demonstration. The paraders were expressing their sympathy not with Communism but with freedom—and at the risk of their young necks, for the new ruler of that country, Gomulka, is as red as any herring before him.

☆ ☆ ☆

The man who told this story is a smallish, rugged, round-headed, gray-eyed patriot whose countenance bears signs of tragedy but who can still smile occasionally. He is Stanislaw Mikolajczyk, the last free Prime Minister of Poland, now a leader in such groups as the International Peasant Union. He has just returned from the Union's meeting in Paris.

"Fighters for freedom in Poland and Hungary have made permanent gains," this top authority said. "Never again will the peoples of those countries be forced back into complete subjugation. They will be very careful—people want to continue living—but they'll never give up their ideal, their hope of being free."

The Soviet Union, in Mikolajczyk's opinion, has failed in a vital particular in its brutal colonialistic program. It hasn't delivered. The help it pledged China has not been delivered. It has given Egypt very little. It has milked rather than fed the various so-called People's Democracies. So there are economic as well as political and social reasons for the towering gripe of the slave states. There is pressure for a change in Russia, reports the man who once sat down and learned through trial and error that business can't be done with the Kremlin.

☆ ☆ ☆

The Polish Red Army could rise when the time is ripe, despite the illegal presence in Poland of eight divisions of Soviet Union forces, the former Premier said. The people could rise even before the Army. They do what they can to break the back of the U.S.S.R. Even the Kremlin admits that Poland is producing hardly half the grain it did before the war.

"The greatest terror and bloodshed, such as in Hungary, won't change people dedicated to freedom," Mikolajczyk said. "I've just seen evidence of public protest as never before. We have proof of great dissension in Russia itself. There have been countless demonstrations in Georgia and the Ukraine. The pressure of public opinion in the west is being felt. It may save many thousands of freedom fighters who otherwise would be killed.

BILL DOBLER At City Hall

Consideration To 'Human Element'

There are many disturbing things about city government—some about which nothing can be done and others which might easily be corrected.

Bill Dobler

One of the hardest decisions for the City Council to make will be on the proposed minimum standards housing ordinance. Whether the ordinance is legal or not as argued profusely by a host of lawyers brings no particular pangs of conscience.

Another aspect of the measure, however, has a very human side and one which cannot be disposed of without discomfort. There is little doubt that the ordinance as now drafted would have a serious effect upon certain people.

This would be an adverse effect and it would be felt primarily by the poor and aged. How many is unknown but it is a fact that some people would find themselves in dire circumstances if the ordinance is passed.

This would come about because the places in which some of these people live would not comply with the ordinance. Some of these places could not be made to comply and there are others which if remodeled to comply, would command a higher rent.

That means the people so involved would have to find other quarters which they probably could not do at a price they could afford. All of this does not mean that the ordinance cannot or should not be passed but it does mean that the city government has not fully accepted its entire responsibility in the field of housing.

☆ ☆ ☆

By passage of this ordinance, problems of basic human needs would be created but there is nothing on the other side by way of a solution. It means that the ordinance cannot be passed with full knowledge of its repercussions without any remorse on the part of those who bless it with their vote.

Disturbing to the soul in a similar manner are such things as the recent change in zoning at 70th and Vine from residential to local business. Changes in zoning are not always simple matters of good land use but involve as well the same basic human element as above—a place to live.

In this case, the Council approved business zoning right in the center of a growing residential area. What this does to the value of surrounding homes is hard to determine with any degree of exactness but the home owners feel it substantially reduces the value of their property.

Again, this particular case involves many people who can little afford to take any great amount of financial loss. The equity they have in their home represents a substantial part of their entire savings. It does not mean they are poor but they are not in a position to just take a loss with a smile, pack their belongings and move to another spot.

If they lost their equity by a move, chances are that many of them could not swing a second purchase. In addition to its financial effects, such zoning is not a desirable thing in a neighborhood. It detracts from the area as a place in which to raise a family and contributes nothing to the wholesomeness of the neighborhood such as homes would do in its place.

☆ ☆ ☆

Those are things which make it hard to swallow such acts of progress, if that is what this change represents, regardless of the legal right or wrong of the action.

The Council, it seems, often fails to give the deep consideration it should to zoning matters. These are matters which are of vital concern to the people immediately involved and have a serious effect upon the community as a whole.

In this particular case, zoning at the same intersection had previously been defeated. This most recent change was opposed by City Planning Engineer Douglas Brogden as well as the Planning Commission. It was classed by Brogden and the Commission as poor zoning, regardless of what it did or did not do to the people living in the area.

The Council is given final authority in zoning matters on the assumption that there should be a right of individuals to appeal the decisions of any one group and with the knowledge that the commission may not always make the right decision. However, the commission and what it represents is materially weakened when the Council overrrides it on major decisions.

For this reason, the Council should be extremely sure of its position and fully informed before it reverses the commission.

☆ ☆ ☆

One of the main advocates of this particular change, Councilman Rees Wilkinson, never once made note of the commission's action on the 70th and Vine matter. However, he is remembered equally well for times in the past when he agreed with the commission and then held high a verbal flaming torch in support of the advisory group.

When he and the commission happen to be on the same side, he proclaims with great vigor that there is no use having the commission if the Council doesn't listen to what it says. If he disagrees with the commission, he shows no knowledge of the fact that the group is in existence.

This is the kind of inconsistence that the average person fails completely to understand. It is the kind of thing also which generally works a hardship on some groups and destroys the people's faith in city government.

To the editor of The Lincoln Star: The people of the U.S. spoke the collective mind loud and clear in the election. They said two things that appear in conflict but essentially are not: We like Ike. We prefer the Democratic party.

The New Deal and the Fair Deal received substantial approval in the congressional elections. But the people were equally insistent that Ike should run the show.

We might translate it in another way by saying that the voters chided the Democrats for not producing the sort of candidate they wanted for President. Likewise they chided Ike for not declaring that he was a Democrat when he first ran for President.

Capitalism Wins

Riverton, Neb.

To the editor of The Lincoln Star: Ike's triumph was also a victory for capitalism. That should console the defeated Stevenson followers who like capitalism. Of course, it would have been a triumph for the capitalistic way had Adlai won, though he addressed his appeal to unconforming Americans, liberals, labor insurgents. Ike got the most of them.

Some believed that Adlai should have been the common people's choice because he was a little less capitalistic and for that reason a bit more suitable to an America whose vast majority consists of common people. But the commoners voted for Ike all over the nation.

It appears the rich and the poor showed their regular Americanism by choosing Ike to run the American system, though he is running it just as the Democrats before him.

It seems that America will take easy money, pensions, soil checks, social security, subsidies, unemployment — pawns — along with a decrease in freedom and independence. And evidently they do not think there is much difference between Republicans and Democrats.

It was the war issue that elected Ike again. He got us out of Truman's war and he made American capitalism prosper. Will that continue for four more years without war or panic? Ike is on a hot spot. He needs to pray.

Back To Spending

Lincoln, Neb.

To the editor of The Lincoln Star: The election is over and economy in government is forgotten by some officials. The governor isn't sending back the expending agencies and asking them to revise their requests downward.

Under present conditions in Nebraska there should not be any raises for any expansion of government agencies.

Our Proper Course

Curtis, Neb.

To the editor of The Lincoln Star: Vox populi; vox dei. That appears to be the truth of the last election. God has raised up Eisenhower with his slogans of peace to keep us out of the war which threatens to come. We are not obligated to get into this last affair in the Near East. We must not. Our friends are fighting contrary to our advice and have not thought of what it can lead to. Russia has sent military men to Egypt and now moves large war supplies and troops that way, and even Red China wants to get in on the finals. Yes finals. "Peace—but there is no peace."

Our duty is to stop sending munitions, instead relief materials. It is our duty to help the displaced Arabs find new homes. But we should use our moral strength to prevent their warring against Israel. That means their destruction.

We should hope and pray for the health and strength of our President now.

Had Sunday Ceremony

MRS. IVAN C. COFFMAN

Miss Doris Ann Bohl, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Bohl, became the bride of A. 1c Ivan C. Coffman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ted C. Coffman of Wichita, Kan., at a late afternoon ceremony solemnized on Sunday, Nov. 11. White candles burning in seven-branched candelabra, and bouquets of chrysanthemums shading from buff to the gold and bronze tones, decorated the chancel of St. John's Congregational Church for the service, which was read by the Rev. Edwin Mehlhaff. Mrs. Frank Smith, organist, played the wedding music and accompanied the vocalist, John Cole.

Mrs. Fred W. Vallis was the matron of honor and was frocked in iridescent taffeta in the tangerine shade. A foid of taffeta accented the snug midriff of the Empire bodice and formed a draped bow at the back with streamers extending to the hem of the full, waltz-length skirt. Costumed identically in mint green taffeta were the bridesmaids, Miss Jeanie Coffman of Wichita, and Miss Elaine Bohl. The attendants' bouquets were fashioned of autumn-toned pompons.

Serving his son as best man was Ted C. Coffman of Wichita, and the ushers were Fred W. Vallis and Jake Kahler.

The bride's period gown of white Chantilly-type lace and tulle over satin was designed in the floor length. A flaring, Queen Anne collar accented the sculptured bodice which was closed at the front by a row of tiny, lace-covered buttons, and the sleeves were long and fitted. Diagonal bonds of the lace trimmed the full skirt of tulle, and her illusion veil was held by a bandeau of pearly-embroidered tulle. She carried a cascade of bronze-toned Fujii chyrsanthemums.

A reception for 300 guests was held at the Welfare Society Hall. For their trip to Wichita, Mrs. Coffman wore a blue knitted costume with red accessories.

The bridegroom is stationed with the Air Force at Ernest Harmon Field, Stephenville, Newfoundland, Canada.

Belmont PTA Board To Meet

The executive board of Belmont PTA will meet at 7:30 o'clock Monday evening, at the school.

Town Talk

THERE are just plain Monday mornings—and then there are Monday mornings with news—This happens to be one of the latter ayems and it is well flavored with variety—

Before we talk about brides we want to announce the arrival of James Aitken Greer On Sunday, Nov. 11, at Winnetka, Ill. The young Jimmy, who was named for his maternal great-great grandfather, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond C. L. Greer Jr. of Winnetka, and his mother is the former Mary Aitken, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. I. Aitken. The paternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. R. C. L. Greer of Portsmouth, N.H.

Another communique from the bassinet club tells us of the birth of Tod Holland Bloom on Saturday, Nov. 10, at Lincoln General Hospital. The very young Mr. Bloom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Bloom, and his mother is the former Mary Sue Holland. We know it isn't necessary but we'll tell you anyway—Mr. and Mrs. Lyle Holland are the maternal grandparents.

* * *

ONE of the brides we have in mind this morning is Miss Helen Weir whose marriage to Richard Pickett will be solemnized on Dec. 21. On Thursday evening Miss Weir will be honored when Mrs. Harold Ford, and Mrs. Neil Mebring of Sewand are hostesses at the home of Mrs. Ford. The guests, all friends of the bride-elect's mother, Mrs. Edwin Weir, have been invited for a buffet supper and will present Miss Weir with a one-gift shower.

AND this morning Miss Weir makes announcement of the members of the bridal party. For her matron of honor she has chosen her sister-in-law, Mrs. William Weir of Imperial, and her maid of honor will be Miss Courtney Campbell. The foursome of bridesmaids will include Miss Peggy Mathers, Miss Ginny Hudson, Miss Donna Mertz of Grand Island, and Miss Chris Mastos of Omaha. Joe and Brenda Brown will light the candles.

Robert Pickett will serve his brother as best man, and seating the guests will be William Weir, Imperial; Wallace Crammond, Cheyenne, Wyo.; Joe Wachter, Casper, Wyo., Robert Allen and Charles Wright.

ANOTHER extremely popular December bride is Miss Mickey Walt who has chosen Saturday, Dec. 1, as the date of her marriage to William Seibold. Miss Walt's long list of premarital courtesies continues with a luncheon at the University Club today with Mrs. Phil Sachs, Mrs. C. Lauer Ward and Mrs. Carl Olson as hostesses. The bride-elect will be presented with a hostess gift.

NAA Board Honors Mrs. Ladd

Since a 90th birthday anniversary comes but once in a lifetime, and since today's celebrant, Mrs. C. F. Ladd, probably had more to do with organizing Lincoln's flourishing Nebraska Art Association than almost anyone else, the Nebraska Art Association board members paid tribute to her on Sunday afternoon when they entertained at a tea between the hours of 4 o'clock and 6 o'clock at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John H. Ames. Mrs. M. G. Volz served as chairman of the tea committee, and extending felicitations to Mrs. Ladd from the Nebraska Art Association was Mrs. Edward J. Walt, president of the Association.

In the picture (left to right) are: Mrs. M. G. Volz, Mrs. Edward J. Walt (standing), Mrs. C. F. Ladd, Mrs. Thomas Woods, and Mrs. John H. Ames.

Former Coeds Are Autumn Brides

MRS. PAUL ARTHUR BANNISTER

Spreading arrangements of all-white chrysanthemums decorated the chancel of the Federated Church of Columbus Sunday afternoon, Nov. 11, for the wedding of Miss Virginia May Meyer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alvin E. Meyer of Columbus, and Paul Arthur Bannister, son of Mrs. R. E. Bannister of Cozad. The ceremony was solemnized at 2:30 o'clock by the Rev. Franklin Wales, and Mrs. Ted Haldiman, organist, played the wedding music.

The maid of honor and bride's only attendant was Miss Ruth Bannister of Cozad, sister of the bridegroom.

LaVerne Pollat of Cozad served as best man, and seating the guests were Gerald Meyer of Lincoln, brother of the bride, and Steve Andersen, Kearney.

The bride appeared in a gown of white Dupioni silk. Floral appliques of Alencon lace bordered the rounded decolletage of the long-sleeved bodice, and the applique motif was repeated at the hipline of the elongated waist, beneath which the skirt was shirred into extreme fullness and caught into a large bustle bow at the back.

A former student at the University of Nebraska, the bride is a member of Kappa Delta sorority. Mr. Bannister has attended the University of Colorado and the University of Nebraska.

MRS. WILLARD EUGENE CARPER

For the wedding of Miss Betty Jean Nelson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry B. Nelson of Ceresco, and Willard Eugene Carper, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Carper of Lebanon, Ore., which took place Sunday afternoon, Nov. 11, bronze and gold-toned chrysanthemums and clusters of lighted white candles appointed the chancel of the Evangelical Mission Covenant Church at Ceresco. The Rev. Eldor Langager read the lines of the 4 o'clock service.

Miss Bonnie Nelson of Lincoln, as her twin sister's maid of honor, appeared in a frock of autumn rose taffeta fashioned in the after-five mode. Velvet in matching tone trimmed the rounded neckline of the basqued bodice, and the skirt flared into hemline width. Wearing identical costumes in shades of muted rose and antique green were the bridesmaids, Miss Eileen Nelson, also a sister of the bride, and Miss Phyllis Rzeszotarski, both of Lincoln. The attendants carried bouquets of gold and bronze chrysanthemums. Lighting the candles were Miss Janet Rosenberger and Miss Bonnie Bowen, Lincoln.

Serving Mr. Carper as best man was Eric Harmel of Minneapolis, and the ushers were Ronald McConnell, LaCrosse, Wis., and Louis Stroud, Utica, N.Y.

The bride's gown of white imported lace and tulle over satin was designed in the waltz length. A narrow band of tulle appliqued with scallops of the lace framed the V neckline of the fitted bodice, and the lace sleeves were long and tapered. The width of the tulle-over-satin skirt was emphasized by full, butterfly panels of the lace, and her illusion veil was held by a cap of lace trimmed with tiny pearls.

Mrs. Carper is a former student at the University of Nebraska where she was a member of Towne Club.

To Be Hostess To PEO Group

Mrs. Richard Garlinghouse, 2850 Sheridan, will be hostess to the members of Chapter DL, PEO, at 7:30 o'clock Monday evening. A talk "Holiday in Kenya," illustrated with films will be given by Mrs. Clarence Emerson, and assisting hostesses will be Mrs. Louis Anderson and Mrs. C. F. Wilkins.

Honored

Miss Sandra Jane Simmons was a surprise honoree on Friday evening when her mother, Mrs. L. D. Simmons, entertained a group of 12 friends at an informal supper at the Nebraska Hotel. The occasion was Sandra's 17th birthday anniversary.

Following the supper, the group attended the Northeast-Lincoln High football game.

SUBURBIA

You've all probably heard reference made to the Tri-Cities, but never to the Tri-Suburbs, we're sure, though Cotner Terrace, Northeast Heights, and Pershing Heights certainly fill that bill. Whatever our three suburbs might be dubbed, their residents have much to disclose this Monday morning in the way of news.

COTNER TERRACE

On the agenda this morning is the pleasant task of introducing some new neighbors, and telling all about an 80th birthday celebration, and two out-of-town trips.

Starting right off with our newcomers, we bid welcome to Mr. and Mrs. Clayton Marble and their daughter, Becky Sue, who moved into their home at 3158 No. Cotner on Saturday, Nov. 3.

Mr. and Mrs. M. C. Rockwell have been residents of Cotner Terrace since September. The Rockwells, who had previously made their home in Denver, Colo., are living at 3018 No. Cotner. Their son, Donald, is attending Northeast High School.

A houseguest of Mr. and Mrs. Rockwell is Mrs. Rockwell's mother, Mrs. Freda Enke, whose home originally was in Emerson. Mrs. Enke was feted at two parties last weekend, given in honor of her 80th birthday.

On Friday evening Mrs. Enke's brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Betcke, and their son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Myron Betcke, all of Omaha, were in town for birthday celebrating at the Rockwell home.

Also arriving for the birthday festivities, which took place on Sunday, were Mr. and Mrs. I. J. Enke, Mrs. Enke's son and daughter-in-law, and their children of Emerson.

From all appearances it would certainly seem that Mr. and Mrs. Dwaine Karr and their son, Steven, had been doing quite a bit of traveling this past week. On Sunday, Nov. 4, the family drove to Doniphan to visit Mr. and Mrs. Vern Karr and other friends.

Last Wednesday, the Karr family went on a day's trip to Gresham to visit Mr. and Mrs. George Mull.

NORTHEAST HEIGHTS

Making news this morning in our Northeast Heights area is a return from the hospital, a baby shower, and some house guests.

But first of all we want to say "welcome home" to Mrs. F. L. Swihart who arrived back in the neighborhood last Monday after an operation at Offut Air Force Base hospital.

Mrs. Donald Towle was the honoree last week at a baby shower given by some of her fellow office workers. The party took place last Friday evening at the home of Mrs. Towle's sister, Mrs. Donald Kaufman.

Arriving last weekend were Mr. and Mrs. Willard T. Moreland of Simla, Colo. The Morelands are visiting their son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Darrel Moreland, but most important of all, seeing their grandchildren, Darrey, with whom they had but a slight acquaintance, and Pamela Lea, the newest member of the Moreland family.

PERSHING HEIGHTS

A visitor in Pershing Heights the weekend of Nov. 3 was Mr. Earl Rademacher of Douglas. He was a house guest of Mr. and Mrs. Harold C. Rademacher.

Soon to be moving to Pershing Heights from Hastings are Mr. and Mrs. William Rewerts and their two daughters. The Rewerts will be residing at 6400 Knox St.

A houseguest of Mr. and Mrs. Rockwell is Mrs. Rockwell's mother, Mrs. Freda Enke, whose home originally was in Emerson. Mrs. Enke was feted at two parties last weekend, given in honor of her 80th birthday.

On Friday evening Mrs. Enke's brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Betcke, and their son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Myron Betcke, all of Omaha, were in town for birthday celebrating at the Rockwell home.

Also arriving for the birthday festivities, which took place on Sunday, were Mr. and Mrs. I. J. Enke, Mrs. Enke's son and daughter-in-law, and their children of Emerson.

From all appearances it would certainly seem that Mr. and Mrs. Dwaine Karr and their son, Steven, had been doing quite a bit of traveling this past week. On Sunday, Nov. 4, the family drove to Doniphan to visit Mr. and Mrs. Vern Karr and other friends.

Last Wednesday, the Karr family went on a day's trip to Gresham to visit Mr. and Mrs. George Mull.

NORTHEAST HEIGHTS

Making news this morning in our Northeast Heights area is a return from the hospital, a baby shower, and some house guests.

But first of all we want to say "welcome home" to Mrs. F. L. Swihart who arrived back in the neighborhood last Monday after an operation at Offut Air Force Base hospital.

Mrs. Donald Towle was the honoree last week at a baby shower given by some of her fellow office workers. The party took place last Friday evening at the home of Mrs. Towle's sister, Mrs. Donald Kaufman.

Arriving last weekend were Mr. and Mrs. Willard T. Moreland of Simla, Colo. The Morelands are visiting their son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Darrel Moreland, but most important of all, seeing their grandchildren, Darrey, with whom they had but a slight acquaintance, and Pamela Lea, the newest member of the Moreland family.

PERSHING HEIGHTS

A visitor in Pershing Heights the weekend of Nov. 3 was Mr. Earl Rademacher of Douglas. He was a house guest of Mr. and Mrs. Harold C. Rademacher.

Soon to be moving to Pershing Heights from Hastings are Mr. and Mrs. William Rewerts and their two daughters. The Rewerts will be residing at 6400 Knox St.

First U.S. Supersonic Bomber Tested

WASHINGTON (AP) — The B-58 Hustler, the nation's first supersonic bomber, made its initial flight Sunday at Fort Worth, Tex., the U. S. Air Force announced.

The huge aircraft, built by Convair, flew for 38 minutes.

The flight was described as "routine" by Convair's chief pilot, Beryl A. Erickson.

The B-58, which is capable of flying faster than the speed of sound, made its first taxiing run on Oct. 29.

Undisclosed

The Pentagon did not disclose whether the bomber actually exceeded the speed of sound Sunday. This speed varies between 760 m.p.h. at sea level and 670 m.p.h. at 35,000 feet.

The B-58 has a crew of three—a pilot, a navigator-bombardier and a defensive systems operator.

The Air Force has not identified the plane's defensive system, but it would presumably use rockets or missiles for defense against interceptors.

The Hustler is powered by four General Electric J79 jet engines, housed in separate nacelles below the delta wing. Its fuselage has the now familiar pinched-waist or soda pop bottle design which enables supersonic aircraft to pass through the turbulence encountered at the speed of sound with a minimum of air friction.

'Elevons'

The triangular wing is equipped with "elevons" at the trailing edge—devices which combine the control functions of conventional ailerons and elevators.

A sharply swept back vertical stabilizer and rudder provide directional control and stability

Convair Division of General Dynamics Corp. built the B-58 at Fort Worth.

The plane was designed for operations at heights up to and above 50,000 feet. It has a 55-foot wing span, is 95 feet long and 30 feet high.

STANTON DELAPLANE POSTCARD

The luxury SS Mariposa—maiden voyaging through the South Pacific—carries two veteran captains. Radar watches over us while we snooze. And gyroscopic fins cradle our roll to the tempo of a baby carriage.

We have two captains. But, ah, only one hairdresser!

This tragic fact broke upon the 200-odd lady passengers about two days out And Matson presidents and vice president hustle off to gloomy staff meetings each sunny morning, armed with vital statistics of hair rinse.

It appears a few smart ladies learned of this frightful shortage. They immediately booked up the hairdressing lady from here to Sydney.

"Can't they put up their own hair?" I asked the Matson man. I am an innocent.

"It is not putting it up," he said. "It seems the hairdresser has no time for tinting. It appears that many of our passengers are about to change color. I find also that when a lady changes color, it gives all the ladies who don't change color a big edge.

"Consequently," said the Matson man, "we must do or dye. And preferably both. We are now canvassing the vice presidents for somebody with background in the barber business and the two captains take turns worrying about the situation"

☆ ☆

This shows you what happens to the best-laid plans of mice and men. A man may set up his gyroscopes and hire his captains. But if a mouse begins to change color, the trip is off

Well, as everybody says, this is a shakedown cruise. This is what we said when the coffee percolator failed to work this tropical morning on the pool terrace.

When the menu says one thing but the waitress says they printed the wrong list. When the air conditioning turns from hot to cold; the shower turns from cold to hot, and the vice presidents turn hot and cold alternately.

When silver threads appear among the gold, it makes a nice song. But it isn't South Pacific.

☆ ☆ ☆

You can tell the ladies who have the firm appointments in the beauty parlor. They are the ones who are tres gai at breakfast. The others sitting spooning viciously at the grapefruit. Their husbands wear a slightly bewildered look.

"We are bringing a corps of beauty operators aboard at Honolulu," said the Matson man anxiously. "But our best information says a few platinums will be getting a dusty look before we reach Tahiti. Now how would you know all of this would happen in advance?"

"Maybe you should make the passenger put it on the passport. Like where it says 'color of eyes' and 'scars if any.'"

"What good would that do? The lady would just put down what she is now. Blonde. And probably sue us if she arrived in Sydney on the mousy side."

☆ ☆ ☆

On the male side of this picture, there is only one barber. An idle frustrated man if I ever saw one. Haircuts generally last about two weeks. And on a high-priced trip like this maybe more—the customers' hair having taken a long leave of absence.

There is some suspicion that the unappointed ladies are carrying on a sabotage operation against the ladies luxuriating under the dryer.

"My wife says she hardly got her head in the bowl today." said the Matson man. "The beauty parlor girl is so busy answering the phone she can hardly get the work done."

Now all of this would never have occurred to me. I thought ladies got on these cruise ships one color and sort of stayed thataway. Except possibly to get a warm and fetching brown.

Apparently not These mice must be recolored almost daily It is disillusioning. But interesting, too. And I am waiting to see what color everybody turns to.

Vikings Best '56 Prep Grid Team

Title Assured After Victory Over South

By RON GIBSON
Star Sports Staff Writer

Omaha North is the 1956 Nebraska high school football realm's proud king.

Any doubts as to where the mythical crown belongs were settled last week as North ran down Omaha South, 27-7, to close a perfect (8-0) season.

★ ★ ★

The Star's Top Ten

CLASS A

1. Omaha North (8-0).
2. Creighton Prep (7-1).
3. Omaha South (6-2).
4. Hastings (9-0).
5. Fremont (8-1).
6. Grand Island (7-2).
7. Omaha Central (5-3).
8. Omaha Tech (4-4).
9. Lincoln High (3-6).
10. Fairbury (6-2-1).

The Vikings played Nebraska's best en route to the mythical championship. Their victims included Creighton Prep (2), South (3), Central (7), Tech (8) and Lincoln (9).

Williams

The Star's final ratings will appear following Friday's Big Ten championship playoff between Hastings and McCook, but it is unlikely that the playoff game will change the picture. Hastings is a heavy favorite.

North, not blessed with great depth, had an efficient starting 11 under Coach Carol Gast. A backfield of Virgil Williams, Ron Knauber, Lee Bigelow and veteran quarterback Stan Byers was a real pony quartet.

Carmine Pane subbed for the injured Knauber in crucial spots. The line was led by Mike Tillotson, Marv Brown, Ely Churchich and Gene Meester.

Williams, a halfback who combines speed and agility with power, was the key to North's success after a long period as a perennial runnerup. The threat of a long run by Virgil kept the opposing defenses off balance and made them easy prey for the quick thrusts of Bigelow or the accurate passing of Byers.

Prep, the number two club, ended a good season by beating Omaha Cathedral 53-7. The end of an era came for Prep when North beat the Blue 19-13 on a late pass.

That loss ended Prep's domination of the prep scene, and broke an undefeated string that stretched back to 1953.

South was the chief threat to the leaders. The Packers bowed to Prep in their opener and to North in the final, but sandwiched in six victories.

Hastings is the best non-metropolitan team in the state, but does not quite stack up with the top three. Coach Ollie Smith's Tigers used their fangs to good advantage defensively and closed the regular schedule with an impressive win over Fremont.

Fremont was hot on the heels of Hastings, and bowed to the latter club on a touchdown in the final minute last week (13-7).

Outside of the top five, the field was relatively weak.

Grand Island, with its poorest material in many years, managed to finish with a 7-2 slate. The Islanders bowed to Fremont (14-6) and Hastings (19-0).

Omaha Central showed signs of improvement as the season ended. Losses were to Prep, North and South, and a close call at Lincoln High (13-12) in the season opener was later to prove damaging.

Tech was an up-and-down performer. Perhaps Tech's best shot was a 13-15 loss to Prep at a time when Prep was still on top of the heap.

Fairbury enters the ratings for the first time at tenth place. The Jeffs closed with a rush and get the nod over such bidders as Lexington, Kearney and Crete (Class B) by a slim margin.

With the Orange Bowl question all but settled, the Big Seven this week will feature several non-conference games.

Colorado, by tying Missouri, can count on visiting Miami with a 4-1-1 conference record. The only stumbling block in the Buff's way would occur if the Tigers could spring an upset on Oklahoma this week—a highly unlikely event.

Colorado gets a chance to fatten up its overall record for the benefit of Orange Bowl tub-thumpers during the next two weeks. Currently boasting a 5-2-1 mark, the Buffs have yet to play Utah and Arizona.

They should carry a 7-2-1 record into the bowl, barring any surprises.

Other non-loop affairs this week have Baylor at Nebraska and Kansas at UCLA.

The Huskers assured themselves of a .500 conference season by beating the Jayhawks at Lawrence, 26-20, in an offensive dandy. And if Kansas can beat Missouri, the Huskers can count on a third-place tie with the Jays, assuming as you must that Oklahoma beats the Huskers.

If Missouri beats Kansas, the Tigers would cinch third and Nebraska would finish fourth.

Nebraska has a chance for a 4-2 record and a guarantee of 3-3: Kansas has a chance for 3-3; Missouri has a chance for 4-1-1, 2-4-1 or 3-2-1.

Iowa State and Kansas State meet this week in a battle of the also-rans, with the Cyclones battling for a sixth place tie with the Wildcats.

Kansas State is 1-4 and Iowa State is 0-5. A K-State win will assign the Cyclones to the loop cellar once again.

Royals Romp

NEW YORK (AP)—After blowing a 12-point last period lead, the Rochester Royals regained the advantage with about half the session remaining and pulled away to a 94-82 National Basketball Assn. victory over the Minneapolis Lakers.

Baylor Near Full Strength Against NU

WACO, Tex.—The Baylor Bears, still sniffing a good outside chance at a New Year's bowl berth, expect to be close to full strength for the first time since their Texas Tech game in early season when they play their final intersectional game of the year this week.

The Bears, who narrowly climbed back into the bowl picture with their 10-7 win over Texas last week, take a rest from conference warfare this Saturday, meeting the Nebraska Cornhuskers at Lincoln. In their only prior meeting, Nebraska took a 20-0 win over Baylor at Lincoln in 1939.

Co-captain Tony DeGrazier, who played only five minutes at end against Texas because of a chronic shoulder injury, is expected to be ready for the Cornhuskers along with Guard Dick Tyburn, injured in the Texas game, and Center Larry Cowart, held out of the game last week. Quarterback Kenny Helms, who missed action last week, is due to see action this Saturday, as well as Halfback Ferrell Fisher who played very briefly against the Longhorns.

Hawks Lose, 96-81

FORT WAYNE, Ind. (AP) — Bob Pettit Sunday night duplicated the 27 points he had scored against Ft. Wayne Saturday night, but the St. Louis Hawks were stopped by Ft. Wayne, 96-81, in a National Basketball Assn. game.

SYRACUSE, N.Y. (AP) — Led by Bill Sharman and Bob Cousy, the Boston Celtics handed the Syracuse Nationals their third straight NBA defeat Sunday night, 94-83. Sharman scored 28 points.

Link, Pius Players Top All-City Club

By BOB McCOY
Star Sports Staff Writer

Eight seniors dominate the 1956 edition of The Star's All-City prep football eleven.

Pius X and Lincoln High topped the list by placing four players each on the squad which represents the "cream of the Capital City crop" for the 1956 campaign. Southeast placed two members on the all-star eleven and Northeast showed one representative.

The squad as a whole tips the Toledos at 177 pounds, with the linemen showing an average of 183 and the backs 169.

Ends for the 1956 squad are Joe Gacusana, pride of Lincoln High, and Roger Bailey, who proved to be Northeast's "most eligible pass receiver."

Gacusana appears on the roster for the second straight year, having been selected on the 1955 edition as a junior. Joe led the Link defensive line on the left side this season and rarely did opponents make sizeable gains on his side of the Link forward wall.

Bailey was the leading receiver for the pass-minded Rockets who found the going rough this season. The big boy was an expert at getting into the open and was the Rockets top scorer for the season, being on the receiving end of three touchdown passes. He is a junior and looks for an even better season next year.

Bill Bliss of Pius X, the biggest man on the squad at 230 pounds, and Bill Van Cleave of Southeast are the tackle selections for this season.

The 230-pound Bliss was 48-minute man for the Thunderbolts during the fall campaign and was a bulwark on defense. But the big boy also displayed his agility by pirating seven passes from his tackle spot to lead his team in that department.

Although Van Cleave, another of three juniors on the mythical eleven, was a guard on the Southeast club this season, he was moved to tackle on the basis of his outstanding defensive work. He was always a thorn in the sides of opposing ball carriers and consistently opened gaping holes in the Knight's offensive line through which Southeast backs could run freely.

Guards choices for the club are Phil Mendoza of Lincoln High and Jim Partington of Pius X.

Mendoza, the shortest man on the squad at 5-4, was a consistent defensive standout for the Links this season and gets the nod over teammate Lyall Luff for the all-city nomination.

Partington was the strong-side guard on Pius' single wing attack and led a lot of interference for Thunderbolt ball carriers while backing up the defensive line in fine fashion.

At center is another holdover from the 1955 squad in Lincoln High's John Elliot.

Elliot, the lightest lineman on the all-city group, made up for lack of size with hustle and desire from the Link pivot post and also turned in a commendable job while handling the punting chores for his team.

In the backfield we have Dave Myers of Southeast, Joe Neal and George Easley of Pius X and Don Davis of Lincoln High.

Myers, the Knights' field-general, developed into one of the finest runners in the city when the Southeast crew finally hit its stride after mid-season. The junior signal caller will be back next year for what should be his best campaign after scoring eight of the 12 Southeast touchdowns during the season to finish third among city scoring leaders.

Easley and Neal were the chief threats in the Pius X backfield that enabled the Thunderbolts to come up with their best seasonal record since the school switched to 11-man ball.

Neal was a fine breakaway runner from the wingback spot on the Pius single wing and his three touchdowns in the season's final game gave him the city scoring crown with 69 points. He also handled the kicking duties for the Thunderbolts.

Easley, a 187 pound bull who operated most effectively on the spinner play from his fullback slot, was the second leading scorer in the city, being edged by Neal in the Thunderbolts final game. The big boy also did much of the Pius passing and was crowned Thunderbolt Homecoming King.

Rounding out the backfield is Davis, who was about the only consistent ground gainer for the Links all season long. His churning drives from the Link tailback spot and his power smashes had many Lincoln High enthusiasts shouting all season.

Others making strong bids for a first team berth were: Bob Els, Northeast passer deluxe; Harold Aksamit, aggressive Pius X tackle; Larry Snyder, tough Lincoln High tackle; Paul Ude, pass grabbing Link end; Bob Fick, 260 pound Southeast defensive specialist; Gary Gibson, Southeast flankman who turned in some fine defensive performances; Wendell Koontz, Northeast guard; Stan Larchick, Pius X end; Gene Smith, consistent Northeast ground gainer; and Larry Grenemeier of Lincoln High, a sophomore back with a promising future.

Doug Gibson of Peru won the NCC scoring title with a pair of touchdowns against Doane. Gibson's effort gave him a total of nine touchdowns for 54 points, six more than the 48 scored by Jim Thorell of Kearney.

Thorell and Gibson were tied for the lead last week but Thorell scored only once against Wesleyan. The football season is over for Nebraska's state colleges, except for Nebraska Wesleyan and any bowl-bound schools. Wesleyan visits New Mexico A&M next week.

Nebraska Praised For 'Whooper' Transfer

The convoy work by the Nebraska Game Commission on the whooping crane in its migration across the state has received the plaudits of the National Audubon Society and the U. S. Fish and Wildlife Service.

John L. Farley, director of the Service, wrote to Mel Steen, director of the Nebraska Commission, and praised Nebraska's efforts to save the few remaining whooping cranes.

And William Jerr of the Audubon Society was happy over the effort that Nebraskans had expended.

"I think your department has done the most outstanding job which has yet been accomplished by any of the groups interested in the safe migration of the whooping cranes," Jerr said.

"All Nebraskans should be justly proud of their part in guaranteeing these rare birds safe conduct through our state," Steen said. He pointed out that a particular word of appreciation should go to the Nebraska conservation officers, who had worked doubly hard to assure the birds a safe trip.

Kearney State Teachers College, McCook Junior College and Tarkio College of Missouri are flying championship colors today.

These clubs sewed up football titles in the three state college conferences last week.

Kearney beat Nebraska Wesleyan 35-21 to complete an unbeaten season, and now will sit back to wait for the right bowl offer. It was the second straight Nebraska College Conference championship for Kearney.

McCook JC whipped Scottsbluff 40-7 to win Junior College Conference honors. Tarkio won the Central Church College Conference championship by default as Westmar of LeMars, Ia., was forced to cancel a game with Tarkio because of an injury to a key player.

Kearney's clinching victory over Wesleyan had the effect of dumping Wesleyan into the NCC second division. Chadron beat Wayne 26-7 to pass Wesleyan.

Buffs Preferred For Orange Bowl

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—The chairman of the Orange Bowl schedule committee said Sunday his group has named Colorado as its preference to represent the Big Seven conference in the 1957 Orange Bowl game.

Van Kusserow said "we expressed a preference for Colorado" in a meeting with Big Seven commissioner Reeves Peters several days ago.

"We feel that Colorado's record makes that team second only to Oklahoma which was in the Orange Bowl last year and is ineligible for 1957," Kusserow said. He called Colorado "a most colorful" eleven.

BUENOS AIRES (AP)—Big Enrique Morea of Argentina regained his country's national tennis championship Sunday when he defeated Ulf Schmidt of Sweden 6-2, 6-1, 6-2 in the final.

It's all over now—the Capital City prep football campaign, that is. All that is left are several bumps and bruises and many memories which may be hashed over the fireside this winter.

On the whole the local elevens had a rather poor season although there were bright spots in each team's campaign.

Pius X showed the best record, 8-1, while Lincoln High and Southeast claimed identical 3-6 slates and Northeast went without a victory and ended with a 0-9 mark.

The total local record ended at 14 wins and 22 losses for a winning percentage of .389.

Coach Vince Aldrich's Pius X crew got a new school plant and a new nickname this fall and came up with the best record in the school's eleven man grid history. The 8-1 mark passed the old standard which was set last year at 6-1-2 by the Lincoln Cathedral Bluebirds (now the Pius X Thunderbolts).

The Thunderbolts ended their season with a 26-0 shutout victory over Auburn last week.

Record-wise, Southeast was the only other school to show improvement as the Knights finally found themselves after five early season losses and won three in a row to top last year's two win production.

But the Knights ended up the season last week by falling to Grand Island, 34-19, to make their final record read 3-6.

The Links, who had trouble finding an offensive attack until the final game of the season, came afire last week to close the year with a 54-12 victory over Northeast in the annual intra-city classic.

Northeast was unable to gain a victory this season as lack of size and offensive punch spelled its defeat nine straight times for the worst Rocket record in many years.

But the Rockets showed signs of improvement at many times during the season and as coach Bun Galloway said "it's not too hard to improve on a winless record" so things may be looking up.

The city scoring race was finally settled last week as two Pius X backs came to a showdown in the Auburn game.

Joe Neal, who went into the game with 51 points, tallied three times to take the scoring title over George Easley, who had previously led with 53 points.

Vikings Best '56 Prep Grid Team

Title Assured After Victory Over South

By RON GIBSON
Star Sports Staff Writer

Omaha North is the 1956 Nebraska high school football realm's proud king.

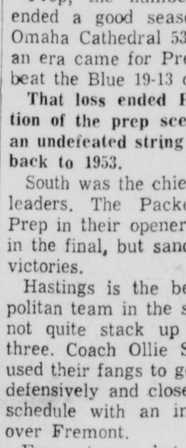

Any doubts as to where the mythical crown belongs were settled last week as North ran down Omaha South, 27-7, to close a perfect (8-0) season.

★ ★ ★

The Star's Top Ten
CLASS A

1. Omaha North (8-0).
2. Creighton Prep (7-1).
3. Omaha South (6-2).
4. Hastings (9-0).
5. Fremont (8-1).
6. Grand Island (7-2).
7. Omaha Central (5-3).
8. Omaha Tech (4-4).
9. Lincoln High (3-6).
10. Fairbury (6-2-1).

The Vikings played Nebraska's best en route to the mythical championship. Their victims included Creighton Prep (2), South (3), Central (7), Tech (8) and Lincoln (9).

Williams

The Star's final ratings will appear following Friday's Big Ten championship playoff between Hastings and McCook, but it is unlikely that the playoff game will change the picture. Hastings is a heavy favorite.

North, not blessed with great depth, had an efficient starting 11 under Coach Carol Gast. A backfield of Virgil Williams, Ron Knauber, Lee Bigelow and veteran quarterback Stan Byers was a real pony quartet.

Carmine Pane subbed for the injured Knauber in crucial spots. The line was led by Mike Tillotson, Marv Brown, Ely Churchich and Gene Meester.

Williams, a halfback who combines speed and agility with power, was the key to North's success after a long period as a perennial runnerup. The threat of a long run by Virgil kept the opposing defenses off balance and made them easy prey for the quick thrusts of Bigelow or the accurate passing of Byers.

Prep, the number two club, ended a good season by beating Omaha Cathedral 53-7. The end of an era came for Prep when North beat the Blue 19-13 on a late pass.

That loss ended Prep's domination of the prep scene, and broke an undefeated string that stretched back to 1953.

South was the chief threat to the leaders. The Packers bowed to Prep in their opener and to North in the final, but sandwiched in six victories.

Hastings is the best non-metropolitan team in the state, but does not quite stack up with the top three. Coach Ollie Smith's Tigers used their fangs to good advantage defensively and closed the regular schedule with an impressive win over Fremont.

Fremont was hot on the heels of Hastings, and bowed to the latter club on a touchdown in the final minute last week (13-7).

Outside of the top five, the field was relatively weak.

Grand Island, with its poorest material in many years, managed to finish with a 7-2 slate. The Islanders bowed to Fremont (14-6) and Hastings (19-0).

Omaha Central showed signs of improvement as the season ended. Losses were to Prep, North and South, and a close call at Lincoln High (13-12) in the season opener was later to prove damaging.

Tech was an up-and-down performer. Perhaps Tech's best shot was a 13-15 loss to Prep at a time when Prep was still on top of the heap.

Fairbury enters the ratings for the first time at tenth place. The Jeffs closed with a rush and get the nod over such bidders as Lexington, Kearney and Crete (Class B) by a slim margin.

With the Orange Bowl question all but settled, the Big Seven this week will feature several non-conference games.

Colorado, by tying Missouri, can count on visiting Miami with a 4-1-1 conference record. The only stumbling block in the Buff's way would occur if the Tigers could spring an upset on Oklahoma this week—a highly unlikely event.

Colorado gets a chance to fatten up its overall record for the benefit of Orange Bowl tub-thumpers during the next two weeks. Currently boasting a 5-2-1 mark, the Buffs have yet to play Utah and Arizona.

They should carry a 7-2-1 record into the bowl, barring any surprises.

Other non-loop affairs this week have Baylor at Nebraska and Kansas at UCLA.

The Huskers assured themselves of a .500 conference season by beating the Jayhawks at Lawrence, 26-20, in an offensive dandy. And if Kansas can beat Missouri, the Huskers can count on a third-place tie with the Jays, assuming as you must that Oklahoma beats the Huskers.

If Missouri beats Kansas, the Tigers would cinch third and Nebraska would finish fourth.

Nebraska has a chance for a 4-2 record and a guarantee of 3-3; Kansas has a chance for 3-3; Missouri has a chance for 4-1-1, 2-4-1 or 3-2-1.

Iowa State and Kansas State meet this week in a battle of the also-rans, with the Cyclones battling for a sixth place tie with the Wildcats.

Kansas State is 1-4 and Iowa State is 0-5. A K-State win will assign the Cyclones to the loop cellar once again.

Royals Romp

NEW YORK (AP)—After blowing a 12-point last period lead, the Rochester Royals regained the advantage with about half the session remaining and pulled away to a 94-82 National Basketball Assn. victory over the Minneapolis Lakers.

Baylor Near Full Strength Against NU

WACO, Tex.—The Baylor Bears, still sniffing a good outside chance at a New Year's bowl berth, expect to be close to full strength for the first time since their Texas Tech game in early season when they play their final intersectional game of the year this week.

The Bears, who narrowly climbed back into the bowl picture with their 10-7 win over Texas last week, take a rest from conference warfare this Saturday, meeting the Nebraska Cornhuskers at Lincoln. In their only prior meeting, Nebraska took a 20-0 win over Baylor at Lincoln in 1939.

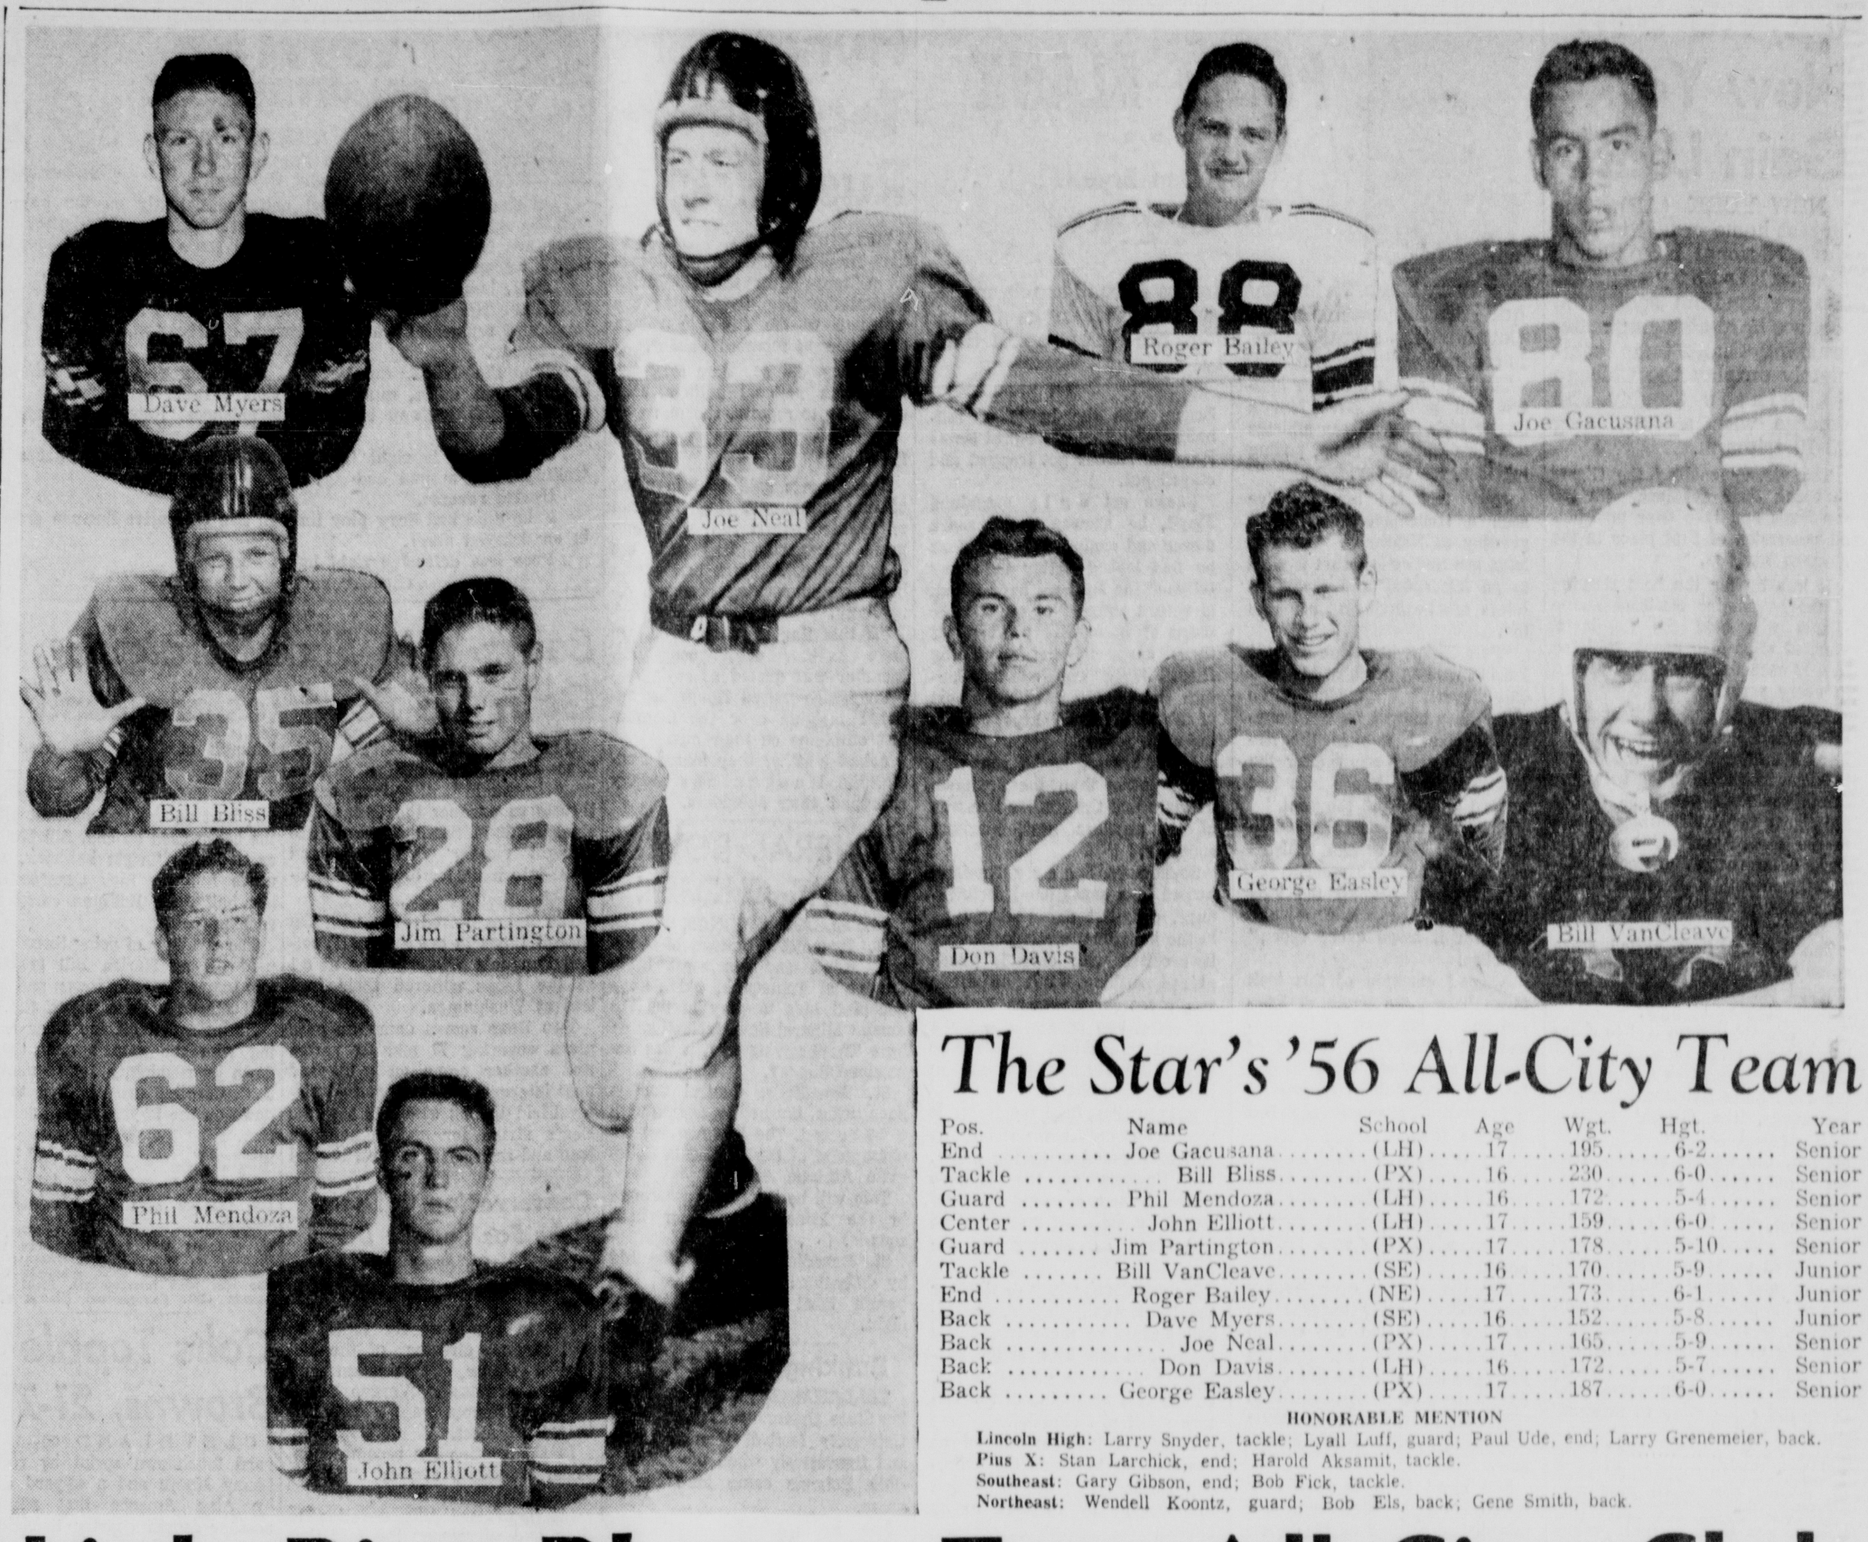

Co-captain Tony DeGrazier, who played only five minutes at end against Texas because of a chronic shoulder injury, is expected to be ready for the Cornhuskers along with Guard Dick Tyburn, injured in the Texas game, and Center Larry Cowart, held out of the game last week. Quarterback Kenny Helms, who missed action last week, is due to see action this Saturday, as well as Halfback Ferrell Fisher who played very briefly against the Longhorns.

Hawks Lose, 96-81

FORT WAYNE, Ind. (AP) — Bob Pettit Sunday night duplicated the 27 points he had scored against Ft. Wayne Saturday night, but the St. Louis Hawks were stopped by Ft. Wayne, 96-81, in a National Basketball Assn. game.

SYRACUSE, N.Y. (AP) — Led by Bill Sharman and Bob Cousy, the Boston Celtics handed the Syracuse Nationals their third straight NBA defeat Sunday night, 94-83. Sharman scored 28 points.

Link, Pius Players Top All-City Club

By BOB McCOY
Star Sports Staff Writer

Eight seniors dominate the 1956 edition of The Star's All-City prep football eleven.

Pius X and Lincoln High topped the list by placing four players each on the squad which represents the "cream of the Capital City crop" for the 1956 campaign. Southeast placed two members on the all-star eleven and Northeast showed one representative.

The squad as a whole tips the Toledos at 177 pounds, with the linemen showing an average of 183 and the backs 169.

Ends for the 1956 squad are Joe Gacusana, pride of Lincoln High, and Roger Bailey, who proved to be Northeast's "most eligible pass receiver."

Gacusana appears on the roster for the second straight year, having been selected on the 1955 edition as a junior. Joe led the Link defensive line on the left side this season and rarely did opponents make sizeable gains on his side of the Link forward wall.

Bailey was the leading receiver for the pass-minded Rockets who found the going rough this season. The big boy was an expert at getting into the open and was the Rockets top scorer for the season, being on the receiving end of three touchdown passes. He is a junior and looks for an even better season next year.

Bill Bliss of Pius X, the biggest man on the squad at 230 pounds, and Bill Van Cleave of Southeast are the tackle selections for this season.

The 230-pound Bliss was 48-minute man for the Thunderbolts during the fall campaign and was a bulwark on defense. But the big boy also displayed his agility by pirating seven passes from his tackle spot to lead his team in that department.

Although Van Cleave, another of three juniors on the mythical eleven, was a guard on the Southeast club this season, he was moved to tackle on the basis of his outstanding defensive work. He was always a thorn in the sides of opposing ball carriers and consistently opened gaping holes in the Knight's offensive line through which Southeast backs could run freely.

Guards choices for the club are Phil Mendoza of Lincoln High and Jim Partington of Pius X.

Mendoza, the shortest man on the squad at 5-4, was a consistent defensive standout for the Links this season and gets the nod over teammate Lyall Luff for the all-city nomination.

Partington was the strong-side guard on Pius' single wing attack and led a lot of interference for Thunderbolt ball carriers while backing up the defensive line in fine fashion.

At center is another holdover from the 1955 squad in Lincoln High's John Elliot.

Elliot, the lightest lineman on the all-city group, made up for lack of size with hustle and desire from the Link pivot post and also turned in a commendable job while handling the punting chores for his team.

In the backfield we have Dave Myers of Southeast, Joe Neal and George Easley of Pius X and Don Davis of Lincoln High.

Myers, the Knights' field-general, developed into one of the finest runners in the city when the Southeast crew finally hit its stride after mid-season. The junior signal caller will be back next year for what should be his best campaign after scoring eight of the 12 Southeast touchdowns during the season to finish third among city scoring leaders.

Easley and Neal were the chief threats in the Pius X backfield that enabled the Thunderbolts to come up with their best seasonal record since the school switched to 11-man ball.

Neal was a fine breakaway runner from the wingback spot on the Pius single wing and his three touchdowns in the season's final game gave him the city scoring crown with 69 points. He also handled the kicking duties for the Thunderbolts.

Easley, a 187 pound bull who operated most effectively on the spinner play from his fullback slot, was the second leading scorer in the city, being edged by Neal in the Thunderbolts final game. The big boy also did much of the Pius passing and was crowned Thunderbolt Homecoming King.

Rounding out the backfield is Davis, who was about the only consistent ground gainer for the Links all season long. Hhis churning drives from the Link tailback spot and his power smashes had many Lincoln High enthusiasts shouting all season.

Others making strong bids for a first team berth were: Bob Els, Northeast passer deluxe; Harold Aksamit, aggressive Pius X tackle; Larry Snyder, tough Lincoln High tackle; Paul Ude, pass grabbing Link end; Bob Fick, 260 pound Southeast defensive specialist; Gary Gibson, Southeast flankman who turned in some fine defensive performances; Wendell Koontz, Northeast guard; Stan Larchick, Pius X end; Gene Smith, consistent Northeast ground gainer; and Larry Grenemeier of Lincoln High, a sophomore back with a promising future.

Kearney State Teachers College, McCook Junior College and Tarkio College of Missouri are flying championship colors today.

These clubs sewed up football titles in the three state college conferences last week.

Kearney beat Nebraska Wesleyan 35-21 to complete an unbeaten season, and now will sit back to wait for the right bowl offer. It was the second straight Nebraska College Conference championship for Kearney.

McCook JC whipped Scottsbluff 40-7 to win Junior College Conference honors. Tarkio won the Central Church College Conference championship by default as Westmar of LeMars, Ia., was forced to cancel a game with Tarkio because of an injury to a key player.

Kearney's clinching victory over Wesleyan had the effect of dumping Wesleyan into the NCC second division. Chadron beat Wayne 26-7 to pass Wesleyan.

Doug Gibson of Peru won the NCC scoring title with a pair of touchdowns against Doane. Gibson's effort gave him a total of nine touchdowns for 54 points, six more than the 48 scored by Jim Thorell of Kearney.

Thorell and Gibson were tied for the lead last week but Thorell scored only once against Wesleyan. The football season is over for Nebraska's state colleges, except for Nebraska Wesleyan and any bowl-bound schools. Wesleyan visits New Mexico A&M next week.

Nebraska Praised For 'Whooper' Transfer

The convoy work by the Nebraska Game Commission on the whooping crane in its migration across the state has received the plaudits of the National Audubon Society and the U. S. Fish and Wildlife Service.

John L. Farley, director of the Service, wrote to Mel Steen, director of the Nebraska Commission, and praised Nebraska's efforts to save the few remaining whooping cranes.

And William Jerr of the Audubon Society was happy over the effort that Nebraskans had expended.

"I think your department has done the most outstanding job which has yet been accomplished by any of the groups interested in the safe migration of the whooping cranes," Jerr said.

"All Nebraskans should be justly proud of their part in guaranteeing these rare birds safe conduct through our state," Steen said. He pointed out that a particular word of appreciation should go to the Nebraska conservation officers, who had worked doubly hard to assure the birds a safe trip.

Buffs Preferred For Orange Bowl

MIAMI, FLa. (AP)—The chairman of the Orange Bowl schedule committee said Sunday his group has named Colorado as its preference to represent the Big Seven conference in the 1957 Orange Bowl game.

Van Kusserow said "we expressed a preference for Colorado" in a meeting with Big Seven commissioner Reeves Peters several days ago.

"We feel that Colorado's record makes that team second only to Oklahoma which was in the Orange Bowl last year and is ineligible for 1957," Kusserow said. He called Colorado "a most colorful" eleven.

It's all over now—the Capital City prep football campaign, that is. All that is left are several bumps and bruises and many memories which may be hashed over the fireside this winter.

On the whole the local elevens had a rather poor season although there were bright spots in each team's campaign.

Pius X showed the best record, 8-1, while Lincoln High and Southeast claimed identical 3-6 slates and Northeast went without a victory and ended with a 0-9 mark.

The total local record ended at 14 wins and 22 losses for a winning percentage of .389.

Coach Vince Aldrich's Pius X crew got a new school plant and a new nickname this fall and came up with the best record in the school's eleven man grid history. The 8-1 mark passed the old standard which was set last year at 6-1-2 by the Lincoln Cathedral Bluebirds (now the Pius X Thunderbolts).

The Thunderbolts ended their season with a 26-0 shutout victory over Auburn last week.

Record-wise, Southeast was the only other school to show improvement as the Knights finally found themselves after five early season losses and won three in a row to top last year's two win production.

But the Knights ended up the season last week by falling to Grand Island, 34-19, to make their final record read 3-6.

The Links, who had trouble finding an offensive attack until the final game of the season, came afire last week to close the year with a 54-12 victory over Northeast in the annual intra-city classic.

Northeast was unable to gain a victory this season as lack of size and offensive punch spelled its defeat nine straight times for the worst Rocket record in many years.

But the Rockets showed signs of improvement at many times during the season and as coach Bun Galloway said "it's not too hard to improve on a winless record" so things may be looking up.

The city scoring race was finally settled last week as two Pius X backs came to a showdown in the Auburn game.

Joe Neal, who went into the game with 51 points, tallied three times to take the scoring title over George Easley, who had previously led with 53 points.

Giants Whip Cardinals, 23-10

62,410 See New York Gain Lead

NEW YORK (AP)—The largest home crowd in New York National Football League history — 62,410 Yankee Stadium spectators —saw a hard-charging bone-cracking Giant team completely outplay the Chicago Cardinals Sunday and emerge with a convincing 23-10 triumph.

The victory enabled the Giants to break their deadlock with the Cardinals and take over undisputed possession of first place in the Eastern Division.

It was by far the best showing of the season for the once-beaten Giants who held the Cardinals' vaunted offense in check until the last 10 seconds. The Giants scored in every period.

Frank Gifford, a brilliant back all afternoon, Alex Webster and Ken MacAfee scored the Giant touchdowns while the best the Cards could do was a 30 - yard field goal by Pat Summerall late in the second quarter before reserve quarterback Jim Root hit Ollie Matson with a short touchdown pass only seconds before the end of the game.

The Giants' first period score came on a safety as a result of a blocked punt after only a minute and 51 seconds of play.

The Giants' offense had to share honors with their vaunted defense. Led by Roosevelt Grier, Dick Modzelewski, Andy Robustelli and Jim Katcavage, the Giants' forward wall stopped Matson and Lamar McHan, the Cards' one-two scoring punch, colder than the 30-degree weather.

Matson, the league's second leading ground gainer, was held to only 43 yards in 13 rushing attempts and never could get off one of his patented kickoff or punt returns. Quarterback McHan, second only to the Bears' Ed Brown in pass completions, was able to complete seven of 18 passes and never did come close to throwing one for a touchdown.

Rams Shatter 49ers, 30-6

LOS ANGELES (INS) — Los Angeles snapped a five-game losing streak Sunday with a 30-6 victory over San Francisco in a National Football League game played before an amazing crowd of 69,800.

The cynics had described the contest as a battle for the coast league title, inasmuch as both teams went into it buried in a tie for the cellar spot of the Western Conference.

Sports Editor, The Star

Jerry Bush, Nebraska's fine basketball coach, made quite an impression in Kansas City when he told a Cornhusker alumni group about the "great spirit that is rekindling" at the university.

The Big Bear is a hustler himself and nothing gives him a bigger kick than to see athletes and fans whooping it up, pulling together, for victory.

Jerry told the alums, "I've seen a tremendous new spirit growing at Nebraska. The athletes are finding out that it pays to go full speed and the spectators are beginning to come to life.

"Pete Elliott has done a great job in instilling pride in his football players," Bush said. "I've never been more impressed anywhere than I was in the Nebraska dressing room after the Missouri game. Those kids had wanted to win -and they did."

Bush is impressed also with the way all Nebraska athletes are pulling for each other.

"When you get all the kids rooting for the whole athletic program it helps every sport," he says.

A good example of this took place before the game at Kansas and at the start of the second half. Several members of Bush's basketball team helped form a "spirit line" to pep up the footballers when they ran into the field.

In retrospect, it might be said that Jerry Bush talked about "spirit" last weekend and the Nebraska Cornhuskers demonstrated what he was talking about.

For the victory over Kansas was gained largely because the Huskers wanted to win enough to play their finest game of the year, enough to have the courage when they were behind to fire right back to stage their second upset in as many outings.

The upset term is used only because the betting corps had established Kansas as the favorite. Nebraska looked like the better team.

Kansas does have an explosive offense, one that can generate touchdowns through the efforts of Wally Strauch, Charlie McCue and Homer Floyd.

But the Jayhawks didn't look "tough." And I'd say Jerry Brown won the battle of fullbacks with Floyd. Several times Hurryin' Homer got trapped and stayed put.

Brown not only outgained Floyd, he showed much more power and explosiveness—just as he has looked better than any fullback the Huskers have faced. It wasn't unusual to see a huge mass of humanity, piled about three deep, moving down the field. Jerry was on the bottom and he was carrying a host of players as he kept driving for more yards.

All Nebraska backs ran with more power than the Jayhawk carriers and the Husker line was at its absolute best, blocking superbly.

Sophomore Larry Naviaux turned in a sensational performance, one that doesn't show up in the individual statistics. Larry is credited with only 17 yards gained rushing. But he made two great punt returns and intercepted two passes, one for a 31-yard return and the other to clinch the Husker win late in the fourth quarter.

But in the final analysis, it was a thorough team victory as Elliott stressed after the game. The Huskers on the sidelines were up and cheering throughout the game—and that's just as important as playing on the field.

Future Cornhuskers — whether they're football players, basketball players or members of any team—can look back at the Missouri and Kansas games of 1956 as the real beginning of the victory spirit at Nebraska.

They will be remembered as the contests in which the underdog Huskers laid the foundation for success by refusing to be beaten.

Now you can tell a Husker that it's pretty tough to be whipped if you don't want to be and he'll believe you.

That, in a nutshell, is what Elliott, Bush, Frank Savigne, Tony Sharpe and all the other coaches are instilling in Nebraska athletes.

BURNINE PEPS EAGLES' WIN

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Hank Burnine, last year's top collegiate pass receiver, latched onto a pair of quarterback Bobby Thomason's aerials to score one touchdown and set up another Sunday in a 14-7 National Football League victory for the Philadelphia Eagles over the Pittsburgh Steelers.

The 22-year-old former Missouri end, released by the New York Giants and picked up by the Eagles two weeks ago, made a sensational overhead grab of a Thomason pass in the first quarter for a 35-yard touchdown. He caught the ball on his fingertips as he raced into the end zone just underneath the goal posts. When Bobby Walston converted the first of his two extra points, the score was tied at 7-7.

Pittsburgh	7	0	0	0	—7
Philadelphia	7	0	7	0	—14

Pittsburgh scoring—touchdown: Marchibroda (1, plunge). Conversion: Glick.

Philadelphia scoring—touchdowns: Burnine (35, pass from Thomason), Keller (1, plunge). Conversions: Walston 2.

Hungarians Tear Down Russ Flag

MELBOURNE (AP) — Members of the Hungarian Olympic Games team tore down the Hungarian Communist flag flying over the entrance to the Olympic village here, it was reported Sunday.

As they did so, they sang the Hungarian national anthem, and, according to reports, shouted:

"Down with Russia. Long live Hungary."

The reports said that in place of the Communist flag they ran up the traditional red, white and green Hungarian flag with the Kossuth crest. Theirs had a thin black stripe running across it diagonally.

"If this flag is taken down, we have another one," one team member was quoted as saying.

They also pasted Hungarian national insignia over the Communist emblems on their bus.

Asked whether they feared trouble, the Hungarians merely shrugged their shoulders.

MINERAL BOWL TEAMS CHOSEN

EXCELSIOR SPRINGS, Mo. (AP) —St. Benedict's College of Achison, Kan., and Northeast State College of Tahlequah, Okla., have accepted bids to play in the 7th annual Mineral Bowl football game here Thanksgiving day, it was announced Sunday.

St. Benedict's, Central Conference titlist, finished its season with a 6-3 record. The Redmen are co-champions of the Oklahoma Collegiate Athletic Assn.

This will be the first appearance in the Mineral Bowl for both squads.

St. Benedict's clinched the bid by defeating Missouri Valley, last year's bowl winner, 21-14, last night.

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (AP) — Florida State University sank the Ohio University football team literally and figuratively when the Athens, Ohio Bobcats came here for a game.

Bears Win Sixth Straight; Gain Tie For Western Lead

CHICAGO (AP) — The Chicago Bears combined a "three-man backfield" with long aerial thrusts to conquer the Green Bay Packers 38-14 Sunday for a sixth straight victory which hoisted them into a tie for divisional leadership.

The Bears moved even with the Detroit Lions in the National Football League's Western race at 6-1 as the Lions suffered their first loss at Washington.

Two Bear scores came on pass plays covering 70 and 69 yards, and another came on a 52-yard pass interception. A capacity Wrigley Field throng of 49,172 saw the Bears strike for a 28-7 halftime lead and then coast to their second triumph of the season over the Packers.

With their scatback, Perry Jeter, hurt on the game's first play, the bears used an end, Bill McColl as a "decoy" right halfback, and made fullback Rick Casares and left half John Hoffman carry the rushing load.

The strategy of using three ends paid off as Harlon Hill grabbed two tosses for touchdowns and McColl snared a third payoff flip.

Hoffman led off the Bear scoring with the game's only touchdown by rushing, a 5-yard plunge. J. C. Caroline scored a fifth touchdown on the 52-yard pass interception.

'SKINS HAND LIONS FIRST DEFEAT, 18-17

WASHINGTON (AP)—Washington's giant killers literally kicked apart the Detroit Lion's undefeated record Sunday as Sam Baker booted a 27-yard field goal, with less than two minutes remaining to nail down an 18-17 victory for the Redskins.

Detroit, with a lustrous season receiving its first bit of tarnish, soared right back on Bobby Layne's remarkable pitching arm to score a touchdown with only 1:20 left but Baker's third goal of the afternoon had put the resurgent 'Skins beyond reach.

The setback was the first in seven games for the Lions and lowered them into a tie with the Chicago Bears for first place in the National Football League's Western Conference. The Bears trounced Green Bay Sunday, 38-13.

Washington, which two weeks ago spoiled the Chicago Cards' then perfect log, sailed to its third triumph in six contests on the strength of Baker's toe, a dazzling second-half defensive performance and rookie Dick James, tackle-shaking 41-yard touchdown run.

YOU BE THE QUARTERBACK ANSWER

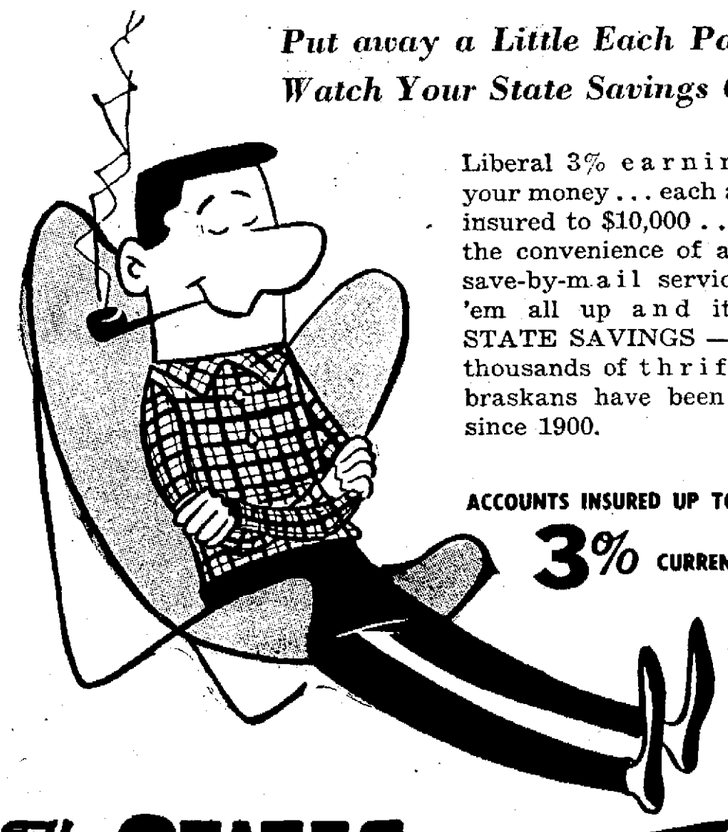

4. Double reverse. Worst call. Big chance of loss. Takes too long to develop.

3. Fake pass and draw. If you lose on this, which is very possible, you have to pass on sebsequent downs.

2. Pass. Though the halfback is short, your chances of completions are only fair. Most passes are incomplete than are complete.

1. Option. Best call. Your running has been good. Play for a four or five yard gain on first down, which would leave you in good shape. By keeping possession you keep the ball away from that potent offense of the opponents.

Giants Whip Cardinals, 23-10

62,410 See New York Gain Lead

NEW YORK (AP)—The largest home crowd in New York National Football League history — 62,410 Yankee Stadium spectators —saw a hard-charging bone-cracking Giant team completely outplay the Chicago Cardinals Sunday and emerge with a convincing 23-10 triumph.

The victory enabled the Giants to break their deadlock with the Cardinals and take over undisputed possession of first place in the Eastern Division.

It was by far the best showing of the season for the once-beaten Giants who held the Cardinals' vaunted offense in check until the last 10 seconds. The Giants scored in every period.

Frank Gifford, a brilliant back all afternoon, Alex Webster and Ken MacAfee scored the Giant touchdowns while the best the Cards could do was a 30 - yard field goal by Pat Summerall late in the second quarter before reserve quarterback Jim Root hit Ollie Matson with a short touchdown pass only seconds before the end of the game.

The Giants' first period score came on a safety as a result of a blocked punt after only a minute and 51 seconds of play.

The Giants' offense had to share honors with their vaunted defense. Led by Roosevelt Grier, Dick Modzelewski, Andy Robustelli and Jim Katcavage, the Giants' forward wall stopped Matson and Lamar McHan, the Cards' one-two scoring punch, colder than the 30-degree weather.

Matson, the league's second leading ground gainer, was held to only 43 yards in 13 rushing attempts and never could get off one of his patented kickoff or punt returns. Quarterback McHan, second only to the Bears' Ed Brown in pass completions, was able to complete seven of 18 passes and never did come close to throwing one for a touchdown.

Rams Shatter 49ers, 30-6

LOS ANGELES (INS) — Los Angeles snapped a five-game losing streak Sunday with a 30-6 victory over San Francisco in a National Football League game played before an amazing crowd of 69,800.

The cynics had described the contest as a battle for the coast league title, inasmuch as both teams went into it buried in a tie for the cellar spot of the Western Conference.

Jerry Bush, Nebraska's fine basketball coach, made quite an impression in Kansas City when he told a Cornhusker alumni group about the "great spirit that is rekindling" at the university.

The Big Bear is a hustler himself and nothing gives him a bigger kick than to see athletes and fans whooping it up, pulling together, for victory.

Jerry told the alums, "I've seen a tremendous new spirit growing at Nebraska. The athletes are finding out that it pays to go full speed and the spectators are beginning to come to life.

"Pete Elliott has done a great job in instilling pride in his football players," Bush said. "I've never been more impressed anywhere than I was in the Nebraska dressing room after the Missouri game. Those kids had wanted to win -and they did."

Bush is impressed also with the way all Nebraska athletes are pulling for each other.

"When you get all the kids rooting for the whole athletic program it helps every sport," he says.

A good example of this took place before the game at Kansas and at the start of the second half. Several members of Bush's basketball team helped form a "spirit line" to pep up the footballers when they ran into the field.

In retrospect, it might be said that Jerry Bush talked about "spirit" last weekend and the Nebraska Cornhuskers demonstrated what he was talking about.

For the victory over Kansas was gained largely because the Huskers wanted to win enough to play their finest game of the year, enough to have the courage when they were behind to fire right back to stage their second upset in as many outings.

The upset term is used only because the betting corps had established Kansas as the favorite. Nebraska looked like the better team.

Kansas does have an explosive offense, one that can generate touchdowns through the efforts of Wally Strauch, Charlie McCue and Homer Floyd.

But the Jayhawks didn't look "tough." And I'd say Jerry Brown won the battle of fullbacks with Floyd. Several times Hurryin' Homer got trapped and stayed put.

Brown not only outgained Floyd, he showed much more power and explosiveness—just as he has looked better than any fullback the Huskers have faced. It wasn't unusual to see a huge mass of humanity, piled about three deep, moving down the field. Jerry was on the bottom and he was carrying a host of players as he kept driving for more yards.

All Nebraska backs ran with more power than the Jayhawk carriers and the Husker line was at its absolute best, blocking superbly.

Sophomore Larry Naviaux turned in a sensational performance, one that doesn't show up in the individual statistics. Larry is credited with only 17 yards gained rushing. But he made two great punt returns and intercepted two passes, one for a 31-yard return and the other to clinch the Husker win late in the fourth quarter.

But in the final analysis, it was a thorough team victory as Elliott stressed after the game. The Huskers on the sidelines were up and cheering throughout the game—and that's just as important as playing on the field.

Future Cornhuskers — whether they're football players, basketball players or members of any team—can look back at the Missouri and Kansas games of 1956 as the real beginning of the victory spirit at Nebraska.

They will be remembered as the contests in which the underdog Huskers laid the foundation for success by refusing to be beaten.

Now you can tell a Husker that it's pretty tough to be whipped if you don't want to be and he'll believe you.

That, in a nutshell, is what Elliott, Bush, Frank Savigne, Tony Sharpe and all the other coaches are instilling in Nebraska athletes.

BURNINE PEPS EAGLES' WIN

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Hank Burnine, last year's top collegiate pass receiver, latched onto a pair of quarterback Bobby Thomason's aerials to score one touchdown and set up another Sunday in a 14-7 National Football League victory for the Philadelphia Eagles over the Pittsburgh Steelers.

The 22-year-old former Missouri end, released by the New York Giants and picked up by the Eagles two weeks ago, made a sensational overhead grab of a Thomason pass in the first quarter for a 35-yard touchdown. He caught the ball on his fingertips as he raced into the end zone just underneath the goal posts. When Bobby Walston converted the first of his two extra points, the score was tied at 7-7.

Hungarians Tear Down Russ Flag

MELBOURNE (AP) — Members of the Hungarian Olympic Games team tore down the Hungarian Communist flag flying over the entrance to the Olympic village here, it was reported Sunday.

As they did so, they sang the Hungarian national anthem, and, according to reports, shouted:

"Down with Russia. Long live Hungary."

The reports said that in place of the Communist flag they ran up the traditional red, white and green Hungarian flag with the Kossuth crest. Theirs had a thin black stripe running across it diagonally.

"If this flag is taken down, we have another one," one team member was quoted as saying.

They also pasted Hungarian national insignia over the Communist emblems on their bus.

Asked whether they feared trouble, the Hungarians merely shrugged their shoulders.

YOU BE THE QUARTERBACK

ANSWER

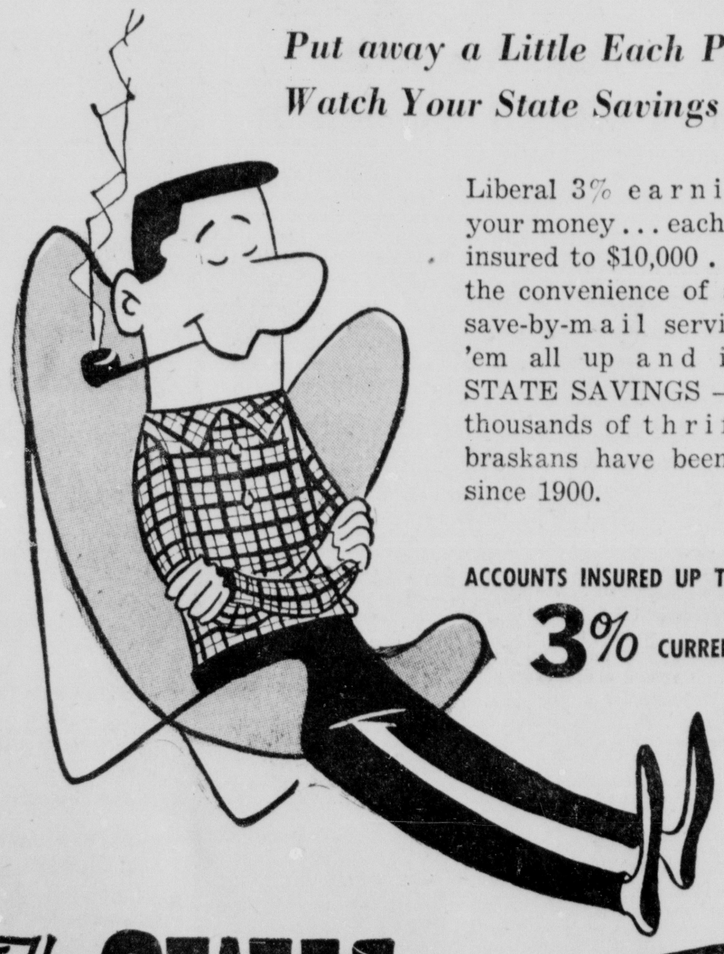

4. Double reverse. Worst call. Big chance of loss. Takes too long to develop.

3. Fake pass and draw. If you lose on this, which is very possible, you have to pass on sebsequent downs.

2. Pass. Though the halfback is short, your chances of completions are only fair. Most passes are incomplete than are complete.

1. Option. Best call. Your running has been good. Play for a four or five yard gain on first down, which would leave you in good shape. By keeping possession you keep the ball away from that potent offense of the opponents.

Lincoln's New $155,000 Legionnaire Club Dedicated

Formal dedication ceremonies were held Sunday afternoon for the $155,000 American Legion Legionnaire Club at 1525 P, home of Lincoln Post No. 3, sixth largest post in the world.

National Executive Committeeman John E. Curtiss of Lincoln, who was master of ceremonies for the event, said, "We dedicate the club in memory of those who have gone before and of their sacrifices. We're dedicating it to a spirit of fraternity, camaraderie and friendship of veterans who are still living and serving their country."

Curtiss further stated that most important of all, "we dedicate it to the continued effort of the American Legion program — 'for God and country'."

'Fitting Time'

Although the club has been in use since August, 1955, it was necessary to occupy the premises before the building was completed and its formal dedication was delayed until Veterans Day as a "fitting and appropriate time."

Post Commander Miles W. Johnston said, "This is the first home of its own the Lincoln Legion Post has ever had and we're more than happy to have it."

The Post previously has been quartered in rental properties.

Cooper Praises

State Commander of the American Legion John Cooper of Humboldt praised the members of the Lincoln Legion and Voiture 103 of the 40 & 8 for the time, money and effort they have put into building the post into one of the best in the world. He voiced the hope that other clubs over the state would take inspiration from the Lincoln members and build clubs equal to this one.

Lincoln Post No. 3 has 4,483 members and its club building is paid for. It is owned by a corporation whose board of directors is composed of members of the Legion and 40 & 8.

The history of the club was given by C. L. Clark, chef de gare passe, and presentation of the keys of the club was made by architect E. A. Schaumberg to club manager Harry R. Ball.

The invocation and benediction were given by the Rev. C. George Kuhn and a musical prelude was rendered by Miss Karen Rogers, American Legion Auxiliary Member.

Distinguished guests who attended the ceremonies included Lincoln Mayor Bennett S. Martin; Lancaster County Commissioners Russell Brehm, Del Lienemann and Chris Kuhner; Mrs. C. J. Rogers, president of the American Legion Auxiliary; Mrs. A. C. Wehr, Chapeau 8-40; Henry G. Jacoby, chef de gare passe, and Bud Willis, department sergeant at arms.

Gigantic American Flag To Appear In Parade Today

A gigantic American flag, first carried in Lincoln for the Veteran's Day (then Armistice Day) parade of 1922, will be used this year for the parade Monday.

The 21 by 35 foot banner will be carried by Boy Scouts from the Lincoln Public Schools. Clarence Becker will be in charge of the flag as he was in 1922.

The flag was originally used during the Liberty Loan Drives in New York City in 1917 and 1918 and was a gift to the Lincoln American Legion Post by Maj. Monte Lum of the 34th Division.

In 1922, 44 school children from 11 Lincoln schools carried the flag.

Tassels, women's pep club at the University of Nebraska, will hold open hearings Monday to review its procedure for selecting the University Homecoming Queen candidates.

Korea Tension Said Faded

TOKYO (Monday) (AP) — Tension over the possibility of new fighting in Korea has faded, U. S. officials here and in Seoul said Monday.

"During the past week, we felt things building up to where there might have been some worry, but now it has all died down," an informed U. S. official said in Seoul.

U. S. military officials said there was nothing out of the ordinary but emphasized their troops were as watchful as ever in Korea to the danger of Communist attack.

A combination of events in Hungary, the Middle East and Korea itself fired the momentary tension.

Canceled

South Korean military leaves were canceled Wednesday. There were reports of Communist troop movements toward the east-central front. Reports of a clash between North and South Korean troops were denied, however.

Communist MIGs Wednesday shot down a South Korean plane. The Allies later admitted it strayed accidentally into North Korea. A U. S. official reported tension in Seoul calmed noticeably after a session of the joint Allied-Red Armistice Commission at Panmunjom Saturday aired the plane incident.

There also had been intense speculation that President Syngman Rhee was reconsidering his old threat to march north to unify the country by force.

Economic Looting By Russ Blamed In Satellite Crisis

WASHINGTON (AP)—The U.S. Information Agency said Sunday Soviet economic "looting" and cultural domination were strong factors behind uprisings in Hungary and Poland.

The agency made this point in the second part of a 100,000-word survey on "Communist Colonialism and International Communism."

Part I was an account of how 138 million persons in 16 countries and areas fell to the Communists during the last 16 years.

The latest installment, published Sunday, details economic and cultural factors which the report said contributed to the anti-Communist revolt in Hungary and nationalist demonstrations in Poland.

It said:

"The people living in the Soviet orbit have no assurance that they will benefit by any increase in foreign trade through centralized planning. Past experience indicates that national populations under Soviet economic colonialism endure shortages and deprivations while increased production is skimmed off in the form of exports."

Announce New Way To Shrink Painful Piles

Science Finds Healing Substance That Does Both—Relieves Pain—Shrinks Hemorrhoids

New York, N. Y. (Special) — For the first time science has found a new healing substance with the astonishing ability to shrink hemorrhoids and to relieve pain—without surgery.

In one hemorrhoid case after another, "very striking improvement" was reported and verified by doctors' observations.

Pain was relieved promptly. And, while gently relieving pain, actual reduction or retraction (shrinking) took place.

And most amazing of all—this improvement was maintained in cases where doctors' observations were continued over a period of many months!

In fact, results were so thorough that sufferers were able to make such astonishing statements as "Piles have ceased to be a problem!" And among these sufferers were a very wide variety of hemorrhoid conditions, some of 10 to 20 years' standing.

All this, without the use of narcotics, anesthetics or astringents of any kind. The secret is a new healing substance (Bio-Dyne*)—the discovery of a world-famous research institution. Already, Bio-Dyne is in wide use for healing injured tissue on all parts of the body.

This new healing substance is offered in suppository or ointment form called *Preparation H. Ask for individually sealed convenient Preparation H suppositories or Preparation H ointment with special applicator. Preparation H is sold at all drugstores. Satisfaction guaranteed or money refunded.

WASHINGTON (AP)—The U.S. Information Agency said Sunday Soviet economic "looting" and cultural domination were strong factors behind uprisings in Hungary and Poland.

The agency made this point in the second part of a 100,000-word survey on "Communist Colonialism and International Communism."

Part 1 was an account of how 138 million persons in 16 countries and areas fell to the Communists during the last 16 years.

The latest installment, published Sunday, details economic and cultural factors which the report said contributed to the anti-Communist revolt in Hungary and nationalist demonstrations in Poland.

It said:

"The people living in the Soviet orbit have no assurance that they will benefit by any increase in foreign trade through centralized planning. Past experience indicates that national populations under Soviet economic colonialism endure shortages and deprivations while increased production is skimmed off in the form of exports."

Announce New Way To Shrink Painful Piles

Science Finds Healing Substance That Does Both—Relieves Pain—Shrinks Hemorrhoids

New York, N. Y. (Special) — For the first time science has found a new healing substance with the astonishing ability to shrink hemorrhoids and to relieve pain—without surgery.

In one hemorrhoid case after another, "very striking improvement" was reported and verified by doctors' observations.

Pain was relieved promptly. And, while gently relieving pain, actual reduction or retraction (shrinking) took place.

And most amazing of all—this improvement was maintained in cases where doctors' observations were continued over a period of many months!

In fact, results were so thorough that sufferers were able to make such astonishing statements as "Piles have ceased to be a problem!" And among these sufferers were a very wide variety of hemorrhoid conditions, some of 10 to 20 years' standing.

All this, without the use of narcotics, anesthetics or astringents of any kind. The secret is a new healing substance (Bio-Dyne*)—the discovery of a world-famous research institution. Already, Bio-Dyne is in wide use for healing injured tissue on all parts of the body.

This new healing substance is offered in suppository or ointment form called *Preparation H. Ask for individually sealed convenient Preparation H suppositories or Preparation H ointment with special applicator. Preparation H is sold at all drugstores. Satisfaction guaranteed or money refunded.

Military Manpower Needs Pushed Upward On Basis Of World Issues—Defense Official

WASHINGTON (INS) — Assistant Defense Secretary Carter L. Burgess said Sunday that military manpower needs are being recalculated upward on the basis of the emergency that has put U.S. armed forces on a "readiness alert" throughout the world.

The Pentagon's No. 1 manpower official predicted new requirements will absorb most of the four to six per cent saving in men that the defense leaders had expected would result from "improved management and weapons technology" in the shift to guided missiles during the next year.

Burgess also declared there is no prospect during the months immediately ahead for reducing the draft below the 17,000 rate established for December—a rate which, if continued for twelve months, would increase inductions in 1957 about 35 per cent as compared with 1956.

The worldwide "readiness alert" has already increased Air Force flying schedules and duty hours at strategic bases, and has resulted in orders to take more than a dozen naval ships from mothballs.

Defense leaders have made no secret of their belief that the increased activity will continue for at least six months.

In fact one Defense official emphasized Sunday that the United Nations cease-fire in Egypt has made the U.S. an "active participant" in that crisis, whereas America was formerly a bystander during the fighting.

Burgess, located at his Pentagon office on Sunday afternoon, said in an interview there has been no final determination of the military manpower request figure to be presented to Congress in the budget in January, even though the deadline for completion of the Defense Department's draft of its budget is long past.

He predicted that the request will remain at about 2,300,000 men, which would leave unchanged the present combined strength of the Army, Navy, Air Force and Marine Corps and eliminate the reduction of 155,000 to 125,000 men that Defense officials had hoped to make during the coming year.

The assistant secretary, who as Defense Secretary Charles E. Wilson's "non-political" manpower chief has under wraps during the presidential campaign, sharply criticized statements made before the election by Democratic Presidential Candidate Adlai Stevenson.

Burgess emphasized that the outlook is for military service for the great majority of eligible young men, and said statements by Stevenson that only one out of eight eligibles was drafted this year was "grossly misleading."

The manpower official said Stevenson "overlooked" the facts that the military services obtained 300,000 men by enlistment, 60,000 volunteers for active duty from the reserves, 30,000 officers from the college reserve officer program and 30,000 six-months trainees as well as 140,000 draftees this year.

Burgess declared that "six out of ten men in the upper ranges of the draft ages are in military service or have completed their term of duty, and the other four out of 10 in many cases are 'still vulnerable.'"

Navy Unveils 'Killer' Sub, 'Homing Fish'

LOS ANGELES (INS)—The United States Navy Sunday unveiled an undersea "Killer" which carries a deadly "Homing Fish" to protect American shipping against enemy submarine raiders.

The "Killer" is the Navy's new type submarine, developed out of the experiences of World War II and designed among other things to seek out and destroy enemy submarines.

It's principal weapon, the "Homing Fish," is a torpedo with a built in "hearing aid" which follows its course to a target by "listening" to sounds from either an engine or propeller.

A submarine officer aboard the USS Cannan off the coast of Los Angeles Sunday explained:

"We don't even have to point the 'homing fish' at its target. We just set it and fire it. The 'fish' can swing around and follow any target we select."

Enemy Prey

The USS Canman is a modified "Killer" submarine. It has equipment aboard which will enable it to detect submarines underwater and is equipped to send the diabolical "Homing Fish" in search of enemy prey.

Males Now Outnumbered By 1 Million

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Census Bureau estimated Sunday that females now outnumber males in the United States by about 1,381,000.

The greatest disparity is in the 25 and older age groups.

Six years ago there were only 600,000 more females than males.

The census report said the ratio changed somewhere in the 1940s.

The 1940 census showed 100.7 men for each 100 women. The decline in the proportion of the male population has been going on since 1910, when the ratio was 106 males for each 100 females.

Switch

Census said the sex ratio switch was due mainly to two factors:

The mortality rate is higher for men, about 200,000 more deaths occurred among males than females for each of the last six years.

Immigration has declined, and only about two-fifths of persons coming to live in this country now are males. Prior to 1930 about two-thirds of the immigrants were males.

The census study showed the mortality factor applies because the declining ratio of men to women is in the age group from 25 years up. Under 24 years of age, males still outnumber females. But the ratio of males to females drops from 96.6 for each 100 females between 25 and 45 to 85.7 at 65 and over.

Military Manpower Needs Pushed Upward On Basis Of World Issues—Defense Official

WASHINGTON (INS) — Assistant Defense Secretary Carter L. Burgess said Sunday that military manpower needs are being recalculated upward on the basis of the emergency that has put U.S. armed forces on a "readiness alert" throughout the world.

The Pentagon's No. 1 manpower official predicted new requirements will absorb most of the four to six per cent saving in men that the defense leaders had expected would result from "improved management and weapons technology" in the shift to guided missiles during the next year.

Burgess also declared there is no prospect during the months immediately ahead for reducing the draft below the 17,000 rate established for December—a rate which, if continued for twelve months, would increase inductions in 1957 about 35 per cent as compared with 1956.

The worldwide "readiness alert" has already increased Air Force flying schedules and duty hours at strategic bases, and has resulted in orders to take more than a dozen naval ships from mothballs.

Defense leaders have made no secret of their belief that the increased activity will continue for at least six months.

In fact one Defense official emphasized Sunday that the United Nations cease-fire in Egypt has made the U.S. an "active participant" in that crisis, whereas America was formerly a bystander during the fighting.

Burgess, located at his Pentagon office on Sunday afternoon, said in an interview there has been no final determination of the military manpower request figure to be presented to Congress in the budget in January, even though the deadline for completion of the Defense Department's draft of its budget is long past.

He predicted that the request will remain at about 2,300,000 men, which would leave unchanged the present combined strength of the Army, Navy, Air Force and Marine Corps and eliminate the reduction of 100,000 to 125,000 men that Defense officials had hoped to make during the coming year.

The assistant secretary, who as Defense Secretary Charles E. Wilson's "non-political" manpower chief has under wraps during the presidential campaign, sharply criticized statements made before the election by Democratic Presidential Candidate Adlai Stevenson.

Burgess emphasized that the outlook is for military service for the great majority of eligible young men, and said statements by Stevenson that only one out of eight eligibles was drafted this year was "grossly misleading."

The manpower official said Stevenson "overlooked" the facts that the military services obtained 360,000 men by enlistment, 60,000 volunteers for active duty from the reserves, 30,000 officers from the college reserve officer program and 30,000 six-months trainees as well as 140,000 draftees this year.

Burgess declared that "six out of ten men in the upper ranges of the draft ages are in military service or have completed their term of duty, and the other four out of 10 in many cases are 'still vulnerable.'"

Navy Unveils 'Killer' Sub, 'Homing Fish'

LOS ANGELES (INS)—The United States Navy Sunday unveiled an undersea "Killer" which carries a deadly "Homing Fish" to protect American shipping against enemy submarine raiders.

The "Killer" is the Navy's new type submarine, developed out of the experiences of World War II and designed among other things to seek out and destroy enemy submarines.

It's principal weapon, the "Homing Fish," is a torpedo with a built in "hearing aid" which follows its course to a target by "listening" to sounds from either an engine or propeller.

A submarine officer aboard the USS Caiman off the coast of Los Angeles Sunday explained:

"We don't even have to point the 'homing fish' at its target. We just set it and fire it. The 'fish' can swing around and follow any target we select."

Enemy Prey

The USS Caiman is a modified "Killer" submarine. It has equipment aboard which will enable it to detect submarines underwater and is equipped to send the diabolical "Homing Fish" in search of enemy prey.

Males Now Outnumbered By 1 Million

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Census Bureau estimated Sunday that females now outnumber males in the United States by about 1,381,000.

The greatest disparity is in the 25 and older age groups.

Six years ago there were only 600,000 more females than males.

The census report said the ratio changed somewhere in the 1940s.

The 1940 census showed 100.7 men for each 100 women. The decline in the proportion of the male population has been going on since 1910, when the ratio was 106 males for each 100 females.

Switch

Census said the sex ratio switch was due mainly to two factors:

The mortality rate is higher for men, about 200,000 more deaths occurred among males than females for each of the last six years.

Immigration has declined, and only about two-fifths of persons coming to live in this country now are males. Prior to 1930 about two-thirds of the immigrants were males.

The census study showed the mortality factor applies because the declining ratio of men to women is in the age group from 25 years up. Under 24 years of age, males still outnumber females. But, the ratio of males to females drops from 96.6 for each 100 females between 25 and 45 to 85.7 at 65 and over.

SHEEP SEEN AS GOOD INVESTMENT

"University of Nebr. authorities are planning the farm flock as a sound economic enterprise. The flock can be established with much less capital than any other class of livestock. Livestock authorities say Nebraska's are taking part in a grand but sure transition in the sheep business.

Come what may, the flock is a good bet to bring in ready cash at a minimum risk."

SHEEP SEEN AS GOOD INVESTMENT
"University of Nebr. authorities are plugging the farm flock as a sound economic enterprise. The flock can be established with much less capital than any other class of livestock. Livestock authorities say Nebr. farmers are taking part in a gradual but sure transition in the sheep business.
Come what may, the flock is a good bet to bring in ready cash at a minimum risk.

Here is a pleasant little game that will give you a message every day. It is a numerical puzzle designed to spell out your fortune. Count the letters in your first name. If the number of letters is 6 or more, subtract 4. If the number is less than 6, add three. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left-hand corner of the rectangle and check every one of your key numbers left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures give you.

BAERING DOWN ON THE NEWS

You are always at the point of no return when you tear up your tracks behind you.

That's why international diplomacy proceeds as cautiously as a guest artist at a Fiji fire dance.

☆ ☆ ☆

The UN. celebrated its 10th birthday realizing the only thing it can count on is its fingers.

☆ ☆ ☆

But it did manage to fix the nationality of married women. With Pakistan abstaining. That's as important as shells on eggs.

☆ ☆ ☆

The fixed nationality of married women is based on the Newtonian law of displacement. That doesn't mean tonnage.

☆ ☆ ☆

It means that a mouse nesting in an oven is not a biscuit. It retains its pro rata share of portable dignity until somebody turns on the heat.

☆ ☆ ☆

The only thing better than fewer words here would be no words at all. But it is important to peg the nationality of married women. When your mama-in-law crosses the domestic frontier you know which embassy to picket.

☆ ☆

We thank the U.N. for its efforts on distilling disorder from chaos. But why does Pakistan abstain?

Digs Self Ticket

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP) — Police booked Billard Edward Tubbs, 25, for reckless driving-by digging. Officer R. T. Standridge said the unusual citation came after he cited Mrs. Tubbs for speeding. The officer said that 10 minutes later Tubbs came by and spun his wheels so that gravel flew over a 20 to 25 foot area pelting Standridge.

Garden Festival Set
